THE CHINESE QUESTION. On Thursday the United States senate enterprising enough to take the interprising enough to take the interprise enough to take the interprise end of the interprise end of take the interprise end of tak the republic. To understand what is now going on at Washington, with reference to the Chinese question, we must look back a little. For many years past, under the provisions of what is called the Burlingame treaty, there was practically no restriction at all of Chinese immigration, as far as American law was concerned, and the influx of the "heathen Chinese" grew to alarming proportions on the Pacific coast. right of the American government to 're- the land, nor the money, nor the factories, gulate" this immigration was conceded. EDUCATION AND SUFFRAGE. To THE WORLD : Would it not be right to require that suffrage, manhood or womany hood, should also be educational, to the extent of the voter being able to write in full his (or her) own name. This instead of a cross would prevent some of the mistakes that make recounts needful and the return ing officer being sworn to secresy, there would be as true a ballot. It has often been suggested that twenty-one years of age, and three or six months residence in one place and ability to write, read and work elementary sums in the first four rules of arithmetic, would be sufficient qualification for a voter, without property. Now as to the education of children at our public schools: What you advocate is just the thing to a T. Surely the public should not to be taxed for any more equea-
