that brothels fill themselves. It is a great mistake. Unwilling recruits for the army of vice are snared by advertisements from the country. They were usually engaged as servants, but after being taken to the places where they supposed they were to render service were made drunk or dragged and forced or cajoled into surrendering their virtue. A girl named Annie, 15 years of age, whose family name is withheld, but whose good character is certified to by her Sunday school teacher, tells the following story of the manner in which she was entrapped: A young girl friend, whom I had known for a long time, induced me to enter a res-taurant where we met an old gentleman, who my friend said was her uncle. We drank several times of wine of different kinds. I merely tasted mine at first, but was persuaded to finish my glass. My head got very queer and I hardly knew what I did. My friend said, "Annie, come up-stairs." I said, "What for?" "Nover mind," she replied, "you will get lots of money." My friend insisted and I finally went. The man she called her uncle followed us. We went into a room, where my friend began to undress me. "What are you doing? You must not," I said. I struggled hard but became dizzy, and at last lost my senses altogether. I remember nothing until I swoke and found myself undressed lying in bed and the man in bed with me. I soreamed and begged him to go away. He ceasion of Beverly, said to be John O'Donnell, who is accused of having mardered the man Murphy on the road near Morriston, in Pusitich township, on Wednesday evening. The prisoner fought desperately, striking with a closed knife, which he frequently tried to open with his teeth during the encounter. He was finally secured with handcuffs, after having out and bruised the faces of the constables, and taken to Rockton to await the arrival of the constables from Morriston to identify him. This morning the man was identified and brought here. He will be held to await his trial for the murder,

The secret bommission consisted of four persons. The chief of the Gazette's editor-ial staff spent a month in these borothels statesmen summed up and relegated to their proper place and judges and queen's counsel praised or blamed, not for their legal acumen or lore, but for their addic-tion to unnatural orimes and their famili-arity with obscene and debasing liferature. A well-known member of parliament being interviewed by a commissioner, laughed heartily when asked what he knew or surmised concerning the traffic in young girls. He said, "It is true that maids are obtainable at so much a head. I, myself, have procured a hundred at 25 pounds each. The girls know what they are doing, and it is nonsense to call it rape. They know their purity is a realizable asset and they are not slow to set a price upon it." Under the headline "Confessions of a Brothel-keeper" the Gazette prints an in-terview with the former keeper of a noted house in the east end. "Child maids, as you call them, or, as they are known in the trade, fresh girls, are constantly in request. As the Canadian league is playing under those rules, of course the boasted permis-sion is no permission at all. The Guelph papers talk glibly about letters and tele-grams from Mr. McKnight, but they fail to produce them, a fact, which to say the least, looks fishy. They also say the Londons, Clippers and Torontos are afraid to play against this wonderful man, hence their reason for standing out against him. George Wash' ington Bradley may be a good man, but then again he may not. If he were of such superlative excellence we cannot help thinking sufficient influence would have been used ere this to scorre his reinstate-ment, even although his offence was the grave one of contract breaking. The Guelph Herald and Mercury attack Mr. Spence for having expressed an opinion he moderate republican deputies completed a draft of the manifesto which the epublican party intends to issue just prior o voting day in the coming general elec. tion. Demand for economic reforms, especi-ally readjustment of taxation and re-establishment of the real equilibrium in the budget. 3. In regard to the proposal to separate church and state the manifesto says that although preferences may differ among the republicans all can agree upon a policy which, while it will guarantee freedom of conscience, will resolutely oppose clericalism "which under the mask of religion is really a union of all factions hostile to the foreign policy of adventure and declares

Gueiph Herald and Mercury attack Mr. Spence for having expressed an opinion adverse to Mr. Bradley, but Mr. Spence did not give his opinion until it was asked for and then he said no more than that with their application for affiliation before the league or associations on the other side he did not see how a Canadian league club could engage an expelled player. Mr. Spence said nothing against Bradley either as a man or as a baseballist. Mr. Sleeman has done much for the game in Canada. He has in fact kept it alive when there was to all intents no life, and certainly no money, in it. To him is largely due the formation of the existing league and the popularity the game is now largely due the formation of the existing league and the popularity the game is now enjoying. The referee will be E. T. Malone, who has acted with so much acceptance in several recent matches. It will be noticed that the Ontario team has been strengthened by the addition of "Notty" Martin, who in former days did good work for the Torontos. With the best players of each club forming the twelve, an exciting and interesting match is assured. Very little wagering has been done so far, but in small private bets slight odds have been given on the Torontos. The team that is beaten will seemingly have little excuse to offer, for both organizations have put forth their strength. It is perhaps worth mentioning that the teams published in the Mail and other papers yesterday were unauthorized and were wrong in several particulars. Toronto is to be congratulated on the most recent acquisition to her yachting fleet. The Wenona, owned by H. K. Bloodgood, a member of both the Royal Canadian and Toronto Yacht clubs, dropped anchor in the bay on Thursday. She was brought here from Brooklyn, N. Y., where she was formerly owned, by her new proprietor, via the Hudson river and Erie canal. She will remain in harbor for a short time and will then put in August and a part of September cruising the Ontario waters. She is sloop rigged with a tonnage of 21 tons, U. S. measurement, her length over all being 48 feet, on water line 40 feet, beam 16 ft. 6 in., and a draft with centre board up of five feet. The Wenona is well-fitted for cruising and apparently would be a tough customer even in a race. Toronto is to be congratulated on in some of the lake regattas. The connection between English politics and racing is something remarkable. Without going back more than a few years we find the late Lord Derby, who was thrice prime minister, one of the greatest patrons of the turf. Lord Palmerston, the most English of Englishmen, was as, well known at Epsom and Newmarket as in parliament. Lord Beaconsfield never had anything to do with race horses, but the time the foremost man on the turf. Mr. Gladetone, though not a racing man, had as his aides de camp Lords Hartington and Rosebery, both large owners of race horses; and now comes the present ministry, almost all of whom are sports-men. The Earl of Bradford, Mr. Chaplin, the Earl of Carnarvon, the Duke of Richmond and the Marquis of Waterford are all sporting men, and Lord Randolph Churchill, anxious not to be left behind, is now said to be building up a racing stable in the intervals of his noisy political activity.
