The dinner hour brought its always appreciated fullness of enjoyment with quite a noticeable accent on the eighth ward, for two truck loads of good things to eat had followed the party.

Lake Huron proved the chief attraction of the afternoon for old and young alike. Numerous bathers with gayest of hearts and bathing suits flocked to the beach and splash in the peaceful waters of the lake while for those who liked boating an accomodating power boat was on hand to take them for a trip far out beyond the fishers nets.

At four o'clock a lengthy and exceptionally well chosen program of sports was launched, a list that held the possibility of a prize for almost anyone who could think or run, remove clothespins from a line by means of their teeth or even tie a necktie. The wheelbarrow race supplied much hilarity for the spectators but proved most upsetting to some of the contestants while we surmise that some participants in the fat man's race are still feeling a bit old from the unaccustomed exercise.

Judging from observations of certain groups of picnickers we think there should have been a competition to decide who was eating the most ice cream cones but maybe that was unnecessary. Possibly no one deserves, or wants, a prize for eating ice cream cones, which are their own reward.

To the pleasant surprise of the party, when they gathered in response to the supper call, the tables seemed to be just as well laden with good eats as at noon and all seemed to have ample appetite. The Strathroy guests served the evening meal, the Watford girls having taken the responsibility at noon.

As the sun disappeared beyond the horizon the picnickers wended their way homeward; some a bit weary from the strenuous day of pleasure; many with a coat of sunburn that was somewhat annoying, but all with a common feeling of satisfaction that they had enjoyed the biggest and best outing of the year.

And thus ended the fifth Androck picnic.

ANDROCK PICNIC MOST ENJOYABLE

Early risers in Watford and Strathroy last Saturday morning were surprised to find considerable scurrying around in their neighborhood while well groomed autos were buzzing up and down the streets, taking on supplies in preparation for a big day. And a big day it surely proved to be. By 7.30 the employees of the Watford Shop almost to a man were gathered at the Wire Works where twenty autos had been assembled to convey them, their wives and their children to the Androck Picnic.

By the time the Watford people were all in the vehicles a half dozen large cars, loaded to capacity with the "Merry Muzzle Makers" of Strathroy joined them. The custody of the shop was turned over to Tom, the faithful factory cat for the day and the gay procession was soon speeding on its way out of town, over delightful country highways and byways canopied here and there by the spreading branches of shady trees; then through meadows laden with the rich perfume of clover blossoms, where industrious bees seemed to be trying to out hum the farmers' mower with the music of their busy wings.

On arrival at beautiful Arcadia Park little time was lost in launching the big sports event of the day, the girl's baseball game—which has been the talk of both shops for some weeks past. Miss Lena Fisher pitched a very creditable game for the Strathroy girls but unfortunately for lack of opportunity to practice the Strathroy nine were unable to produce as good teamwork as a year ago. The Watford girls, who were so neatly trimmed by the Muzzle Makers at Hillsboro last year wisely placed Miss Wynne Harper in the pitcher's box and put forth their very best this time, winning the championship for a year and President Washburn's prize which was a large box of the most delicious chocolates for each member of the winning nine. As to the score, we never heard just what the final count was, but the playing was so spectacular at times that we question if any umpire or score keeper could keep pace with it. The losers proved themselves true sports by giving three rousing cheers for the winners and enthusiastic fans escorted both teams to the pavilion for cool refreshments.

The game being over the picnickers scattered, some choosing to explore woodland paths where deep blue wild flowers and feathery ferns held sway, some wished to try their skill with a pair of oars, while others could not be coaxed from underneath some stately elms whose mighty arms outstretched, supported good old fashioned swings just large enough for two. A score of little tots found endless delight in building castles in the white sand of the lake shore.

THIN, WATERY BLOOD MEANS ILL HEALTH

Rich, Red Blood Brings Bright Eyes and Rosy Cheeks

The girl who returns home from school or from work thoroughly tired out will be fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown, because this getting tired so easily is probably the first warning symptom of a thinning blood that must not be disregarded if her health is to be preserved.

When the blood becomes thin and impure, the patient becomes pale, she not only tires out easily but often suffers from headaches, palpitation of the heart, dizzy spells and a loss of appetite.

In this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found to have a beneficial action on the blood. Miss Delima Lafreniere, St. Ambrose, Man., has proved this in her own case, and advises others to use these pills. She says: "Before I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I felt like a complete wreck of my former self. My blood was poor and thin. I suffered from faint and dizzy spells, and had backaches and headaches almost every day. I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and by the time I had used three boxes I felt much better and I continued taking the pills until I felt as well as I ever did. For what they did in my case I cannot recommend these pills too highly."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The death took place in Brooke on Friday June 17, of Neil Leitch, a well and popularly known resident of the township. The deceased was in his 47th year and had been in good health until about a week previous, when he complained of stomach trouble. However, he kept at his work until the night before, when he had to give up, and on Friday afternoon he passed away. He was a man who was highly respected in the community. The funeral took place from the residence of his mother, Elgin street, Alvinston, on Monday afternoon, interment taking place in Alvinston cemetery.

Trafalgar township has decided to be up to date in the matter of posting up the names of the roads, which will greatly assist motoring parties. Work has already commenced in the erection of steel signs. The lettering is in two colors, and each sign shows, the name of the township as well as the road. Other townships will likely follow Trafalgar's good example.
