THE CANADIAN BEE JOURNAL.

BEETON, ONT., MAY 15, 1893.

EDITORIAL.

The Secretary of the O.B. A. wishes to say that the addressed envelope, remittance notice, and circular which he recently enclosed to the members, with the bulletin on the spraying of fruit trees, are intended for the remittance of the membership fee of some neighbouring beekeeper. Almost every member could without much effort induce at least one beekeeper to join the Association. In this way the membership might be doubled. Will the members please bear this matter in mind when they meet their beekeeping friends.

The author of "Olla Podrida" will see that, the rush upon our pages having been pretty well disposed of, we have been able to make a sort of por pourri of his contributions at last. It was simply because the matter which inconvenienced us was of more or less immediate interest and importance that we had to hold over both his and other contributions.
