

"Indeed, the subsidies question in relation to environmental policies may be one of the most intricate and difficult of those facing the world trading system during the next decade."

John Jackson, "World Trade Rules and Environmental Policies: Congruence or Conflict?"