NON-AGGRESSION PACT BETWEEN NORTH AND SOUTH KOREA

Question No. 349-Mr. Robinson:

Will the government consider the advisability of urging the United Nations to explore fully North Korea's proposal of the non-aggression pact?

Hon. Mitchell Sharp (Secretary of State for External Affairs): The Government is cognizant of the proposals of the North Korean authorities in Pyongyang for a non-aggression pact between the governments of North and South Korea. Similar proposals in slightly varying form have been put forward on a number of occasions in recent years, most recently in June 1970.

Common to all of the North Korean proposals for a non-aggression pact is the pre-condition of prior withdrawal of all foreign troops, i.e. U.N. forces, from the Korean peninsula. Canada is a member of the "Participating Nations Advisory Group" to the United Nations Command in Korea and the Canadian Government is in agreement with the Government of the Republic of Korea that such a pre-condition to negotiation is unacceptable at this time—at least until North Korea demonstrates by its official statements and its actions that it is seriously interested in peaceful co-existence with its southern neighbour.

The Government believes that there is perhaps more merit in the proposals for Korean re-unification made by President Park Chung-hee of the Republic of Korea in his statement of August 15, 1970. Unfortunately the Pyongyang regime has dismissed these proposals out-ofhand.
