The Principal.

Dear Sir Arthur,

I am informed by Dean Laird that the constitution of the Teachers' Training Committee is statutory and that I am not a member but only the secretary. Since Dean Laird's reports are always carefully typed, the duties of the secretary are extremely small and such duties might well, I think, be undertaken by one of the members of the Committee. If I felt that I could be of any real assistance to the Committee I should be very willing to remain as secretary but I do not so feel and unless you have any objection I should like to tender my resignation.

Yours sincerely,

J. H. Heatthend.
