

J. P. BELL, at same meeting:

"The people of Hamilton were glad of the opportunity for mutual respect, which they hoped would lead to genuine good-will. French and English should be taught to all children."

HON. JUSTICE PELLETIER, at same meeting:

"Old religious differences should not be rehashed and rehearsed. There were so many things on which they could agree that it was not worth while endangering Canadian unity on the things in disagreement. (Loud applause.)"

COL. R. DE LA BRUÈRE GIROUARD:

"Taking the Canadian born in each Province, the enlistment had been for Quebec 1.7 per hundred, and for Ontario 1.9 per hundred, only a fraction in difference."
