

SIMON FRASER

Agent of the North West Company, who established the first trading posts in British Columbia, and who was the first in 1808 to descend the Fraser River, named after him, to its mouth.