Inquiring Into Fatal Collision. Alex. Calvey, London, Ont., and Unidentified Sailor Victims of Accident in Lake St. Clair.

DETROIT, Oct. 21.—(Can. Press).—In an effort to determine the cause and if possible fix the blame for the collision today between the steamers Pine Lake and Fleetwood, which resulted in the sinking of the former and the drowning of two members of her crew, an investigation by federal inspectors has been started.

The accident occurred in Lake St. Clair, off Peche Island. According to Captain Ferguson of the Pine Lake, "crossed signals" were responsible. Captain Kinney of the Fleetwood appeared before the inspectors a few hours after the accident.

The Pine Lake, a small boat, sank in less than a minute after she was struck. The victims were Alex. Calvey of London, Ont., a wheelman, and an unidentified sailor.

Those born today will be too generous for their own welfare and their filial considerations may cause some people to avoid them, who would otherwise be their best friends. Their early training should be to look to the future and to balance generosity with judgment.

Do not be too quick to give support to the schemes of others. It will be more profitable for you to consider a proposition without prejudice and to decide on it according to reason, regardless of inclination. If you are employed you should be especially careful in the near future.

Baby's Feet.

When baby is small, keep his feet warm. Soft loose stockings that come up over the knees and better than booties, especially when the baby wears short clothes from birth.

When baby becomes more active and kicks his feet up, he should wear thin booties over the stockings in winter, but not, of course, in warm weather.

Soft little kid shoes may be worn instead of booties. When the young man starts to creep he should wear soft-soled boots. From now on he will try to stand alone, and his ankles need support. When the child is old enough to wear hard-soled boots, you cannot be too careful in your selection of good-fitting shoes. The baby foot is so pretty, so soft and pliant that a bootie-fitting shoe can work harm in a very short time. Let the walking child wear high shoes, or boots, as we generally call them, that result in slippers with the extension sole soon "turn over" and, besides spoiling the foot, they are very uncomfortable for the child. The soles should be fairly broad, but not too heavy. Heavy shoes cause clumsiness and dragging. Do not lace or button boots too tightly. Cold feet will result in cold feet often mean chilblains. If your child suffers continually from cold feet, give him plenty of farinaceous and heat-producing food—meats, cream, butter and cocoa, if he is old enough.

For weak ankles there is nothing better than the "foot" shoes for those who need it. These shoes are made of a nicely made shoe with three thin supports in each side.

The "run down" of one side" shoe needs an extra strip of leather on the sole and heel of the shoe on the side that tends to wear down. This will keep the foot in a level position.

Keep the children's feet in good condition; and teach them how important it is to their comfort for them to continue the habit when they are old enough to look after themselves.

There was a large attendance at the first meeting of the season of Toronto Leper's in the hall of the Mission to Lepers, held in Toronto Bible College yesterday afternoon, Mrs. J. B. Willmott presiding.

A most earnest and touching address was given by Miss S. I. Hatto, superintendent of the Ramachandrapuram Asylum for lepers in India, who has spent thirteen years' service for the lepers in India, began with the women and children, and she has now the leper work in addition. Miss Hatto was first led to do work for the lepers when she was made aware of the fact that the man who had been carrying the water for her, handling her food, etc., for two years, was a leper. Her desire to do work for the lepers was motivated by the fact that she had seen the leper in the work there. This great undertaking has been well rewarded. Lepers began to come in addition. Miss Hatto had an accommodation for them at all. Now, however, there is accommodation for 100 lepers. They are young-looking as long as possible, well-cared for both physically and spiritually. Their wounds are cleansed and their bodies are kept healthy by a day and medicine, and there mean so much to the outcast leper who has been hungry and sick. The large majority of Miss Hatto's lepers are women and children, and she has now the leper work in addition. Her desire to do work for the lepers was motivated by the fact that she had seen the leper in the work there. This great undertaking has been well rewarded. Lepers began to come in addition. Miss Hatto had an accommodation for them at all. Now, however, there is accommodation for 100 lepers. They are young-looking as long as possible, well-cared for both physically and spiritually. Their wounds are cleansed and their bodies are kept healthy by a day and medicine, and there mean so much to the outcast leper who has been hungry and sick. The large majority of Miss Hatto's lepers are women and children, and she has now the leper work in addition. Miss Hatto was first led to do work for the lepers when she was made aware of the fact that the man who had been carrying the water for her, handling her food, etc., for two years, was a leper.
