

FORTY THOUSAND WERE AT THE FAIR YESTERDAY

It Was American Visitors' Day and Col. Sewell, U.S. Consul, Was the Honored Guest of the Directors

American Citizens Were Numerous on the Grounds—All Departments Are Wide Open, and the Last of "The Siege of Mafeking" Will be Seen To Night

In the minds of Americans no little honor is accorded them by the fact that they were the first to set up a fair at night. The Fair setting up a special day as Americans' day. Col. Sewell, whose geniality just bubbles out all over his shining countenance, was made the original and chief guest of the celebration yesterday, and, as the representative of the American nation, he thanked the directors at luncheon for perfect working order. The sideshow did not open until 8 o'clock. But the special attraction was the performance on a drop of the Grand Stand at night, with the wealth of fireworks and explosions surrounding the Siege of Mafeking. The grand stand, both above and below the stage, was filled and it is estimated that fully 20,000 persons saw the performance at night.

The Pony Breeders. A large and representative meeting of pony breeders was held in the board room of the association. It was decided by the 30 persons present to form a society to be known as the Canadian Pony Breeders' Association. Robert Miller of Stouffville, an extensive breeder of ponies, was the best known horseman in Canada, will be invited to be the first president of the Non-American representative were crowded all day long by those who considered the coming Buffalo Exposition first in their affections.

An American Feature.

An American feature of the luncheon, after the warning address of Col. Sewell, was the brilliant five-minute speech of Prof. James H. Webb of Yale University. The speaker went to great pains to be as graceful, forceful as well as to be as sincere, that was as novel as it was refreshing.

Late last night "Bob" Geddes had his only call of the day. A woman and a fat fellow went out on Duane-street and sat down on the sidewalk. The woman was herself. She faints, and "Bob" and his ambulance took her home. She is now all right.

ing. It required a tasker to trace the source of the present animosity between the two cities, and to find out the cause of the trouble. The tasker was to visit the municipal institutions, that serve as the bulwarks of the constitution of each nation. There is food for thought in that 1926.

40,000 on the Grounds.

The crowd at the Fair was satisfactory. The total attendance was not more than 40,000. This was somewhat better than the attendance of last year, but the discrepancy was not due to the absence of Americans, whose visit yesterday was an informal invitation for all Canadians to be at home at the Pan-American next year in Buffalo.

All Departments Working.

Ewan Says They're Fighters.

A tone of kindly, friendly feeling between the United States and Canada was the conspicuous feature of yesterday's unbroken. The Americans gave the keynote of Anglo-Saxon kinship, while others supplemented their remarks.

Those Who Were Present.

Among those present were: Col. Sewell, U. S. Consul in Toronto; John A. Ewan, returned correspondent from South Africa

he did, that it came from Him, he had no other alternative but to accept. With regard to his consecration, he said it would probably take place at the end of October, in St. George's Cathedral, Kingston. The bishop-elect is the son of the late William Miles of Toronto. He was born on Wednesday, August 12, 1886, at the Grammar School there and at the University of Toronto. He received his literary studies at Huron College, and at Trinity University, Toronto, receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1908, his degree of B.D., and in 1904 that of D.D. These degrees are conferred on him by the University of Toronto. He subsequently received the Ad Eminentis degree from the University of the Province of Bishop's College, Lennoxville.
