UNSETTLED AND RAINY.

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 18—11 p.m.—The western storm center has moved very slowly almost due north, while the high area has moved equally slowly southeastward from the St. Lawrence Valley. Severe easterly gales have prevailed on the lakes, but the rain, which has been very heavy in Western Ontario, has not yet extended to Kingston. Present indications are that a developing low area now near the South Atlantic coast will move northward, and probably cause bad weather in Eastern Ontario and Quebec. Minimum and maximum temperatures—Edmonton, 28-34; Prince Albert, 26-30; Qu'Appelle, 24-32; Winnipeg, 32-36; Port Arthur, 46-50; Pelly Sound, 40-50; Toronto, 46-52; Ottawa, 30-48; Montreal, 30-48; Quebec, 30-44; Halifax, 36-54. Toronto, Oct. 19, 1898—Probabilities: Lower lakes—Strong winds; continued unsettled, with occasional rain. Local temperatures—The highest and lowest readings of the thermometer at the observatory on Tuesday, Oct. 18 were 43.5 and 44 degrees.

COUNTY COUNCIL WON'T ACCEPT.

The county council hospital committee met yesterday to discuss again the question of entering into an agreement with the city. Those present were Warden Elson, Councilors Murray and C. Hodgins, Auditor Stanley and Hospital Representative Gilmour, M.P. The county men objected to paying more than 75 cents per day for patients, which, with the government grant, would bring the charges up to $1.00 per day. They claim it is better for the city to keep the county patients at a small loss than lose them altogether, and the government grant besides. The county men also objected to the city's proposal as it now stands.

Mr. Joe Ott appeared at the Grand last night in "Looking for Trouble," and was greeted by a large and delighted audience. In the three acts there was depicted enough trouble to turn the brain of an ordinary individual, but Joe cleverly turned the trouble into laughter for the audience. Mr. Ott, as Bliss, meets with his troubles early in the evening, and they continue until about five minutes before the fall of the curtain. A number of topics open up, and some clever dancing also helps to lighten the evening. All his efforts were loudly applauded, and he was encored over and over again. Each member of the company is an artist. The play is well staged, and replete with new songs and dances. While the costumes are costly and handsome. It was a popular show at a popular price, and met with a hearty reception.

Both of the contracting parties are well known and popular, and their many friends join in wishing them every happiness. The ceremony was performed by Rev. LAURIER ON
CANADA'S RIGHTS

We Shall Not Sacrifice Our National Dignity.

An Eloquent Reference to the International Conference—Canada a Nation.

Kingston, Oct. 19.—At the public reception last night to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lord and Lady Aberdeen, Sir Wilfrid, in reply to the address presented to him, made a brilliant speech, the concluding portion of which was as follows:

Now, sir, you speak in this address of another subject, of the great international conference which has been sitting in the city of Quebec to settle the differences which have arisen between us and our neighbors to the south. Sir, I can say that I can claim only one thing in regard to that. I claim no merit or credit in regard to that commission, save this, that I have done my best to bring about such a conference and to give us an opportunity of settling our differences to the world at large, that we are teaching how a simple colony can become a nation, not by revolution, but by evolution. (Cheers.) We exercise today the power of sovereignty. We are negotiating, or trying, at all events, to negotiate a treaty with our neighbors. This we do with the sanction of the motherland, and we give this further lesson to the world, that it is possible to be an independent nation while maintaining our colonial ties. (Cheers.) This is an example which never was given in any part of the world or in any age. You would search in vain the annals of all humanity, and you would not find such an example as we are now exhibiting in the city of Quebec. But as to the result of this conference, I venture no prediction. I have hopes, but I have no certainty. I have hopes, but I will be able to meet our neighbors, to give and to take, and to be able thereby to settle the differences and to improve our relations. You say very truly in this address of yours that we want to be on terms of friendship with our neighbors to the south. I make no disguise of it. For my part, I have abundant and deep sympathy in my heart for the American Republic. (Applause.) I love England well. I love Canada best of all. (Cheers.) But, sir, while I hope that we shall be able to obtain an honorable treaty, I say that I am not disposed to obtain anything from our American neighbors except by honorable concession, which will stop the course of our national dignity. (Cheers.) We will do everything that it is possible to do to settle all differences and to have immediate peace between us. But we shall not, neither now nor at any time, purchase that great boon by the sacrifice of our manhood or the loss of our national dignity. (Cheers.) Let me hope, however, that wise counsel will prevail on either side; that we shall be generous on either side, and that we shall do something to bring together the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race. If we fail we shall not be discouraged, but we shall meet the situation like men. And let me tell you we shall thrive and shall be a nation yet. The fate of this vast country is not dependent upon the result of the negotiations which have taken place at Quebec, and which are to be continued of Washington. They may help; I hope they will, but if they fail we shall continue to be a nation, as we are at the present time.

MILITARY MEN
ENTHUSIASTIC

In Their Praise of Major-General Hutton.

The Commanding Officer Very Popular—His Democratic Methods Are Appreciated—Officers of the District Entertained at the Tecumseh.

Major-General Hutton has made himself immensely popular with the military men of the district by reason of his tact and democratic bearing. He has shown a keen interest in the service, and a desire to form a personal acquaintance with the officers of Western Ontario. Already there is evidence that his democratic methods will be successful in arousing an unprecedented enthusiasm in military circles of the district. At the Tecumseh House yesterday afternoon the major-general spent several hours in hearing suggestions from a large number of Western Ontario officers as to means of improving the various departments. Among those present were the visiting and local officers who attended the dinner at Wolseley Barracks, also Lieut.-Col. White, Lieut.-Col. Macdonald, and Major M. Davidson, Guelph; Capt. A. L. Ross, Palmerston; Major George Acheson, Twenty-ninth Battalion, Galt; Capt. Dunlop, Thirty-third, Goderich; and T. W. Nesbitt, Sarnia. Subsequently the major-general and his guests passed a pleasant evening in a social way in the hotel parlors.

The Case of Butler vs. The London Street Railway Company—Other Cases.

Butler vs. London Street Railway Company—Judgment in action for negligence tried with a jury at London, motions for judgment having been made by both parties at and after the trial. The plaintiff's claim was based upon three grounds: (1) Running the car at too great speed around the curve; (2) failing to give warning of the approach of the car, and (3) construction of the track too near the post against which plaintiff was crushed. The jury in effect found against the plaintiff upon the first two grounds, and in his favor upon the third. Judgment for plaintiff for $200 damages with costs. Proceedings stayed 30 days if defendants desire it. Gibbons, Q.C., for plaintiff. Hellmuth (London) for defendants.

Milling vs. London Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Canada—Hellmuth (London) for defendants, moved to strike out jury notice served by plaintiff as irregular. J. G. Hay showed cause, and moved for order allowing jury notice to stand. Order made striking out jury notice, but reserving to plaintiff liberty to make substantive application to have action tried by a jury. Costs of this application costs in cause to defendants. Milling vs. London Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Canada—J. G. Hay, for plaintiff, moved for order for examination of a second officer of defendant company. Hellmuth (London), for defendants, showed cause. Order made allowing plaintiff to examine manager of defendant company. Question as to whether that examination may be used in evidence at trial reserved to trial judge.
