

TRANSPARENT APPLES—Continued.

Russian Name.	Suggested American Name.
Skvosnina dlinnaya *	Long Translucent.
Skvosnina Rijskaya †
Skvosnina kruglaya †	Large Translucent.
Skvosnina skorospielaya †	Early Translucent.
Yantarnoe naliv †	Amber.
Fonarik nalivnoi.	Fonarie.
Tsarskui schip nalivnoi †

In the above list those marked † are the most Naliv. Those not so marked are best when not naliv.

* Krasnoglazoff confuses this Skvosnina dlinnaya with Tsarskui Schip, and Regel in quoting him makes the same mistake, and gives this naliv quality to the Tsarskui Schip. Sladkui.

There are five varieties of high conic apples about which there is great confusion (i.) Fonarik Naliv; small and ribbed. (ii.) Dlinnoi Skvosnoi; a long transparent with slender stalk. (iii.) Tsarskui Schip. (iv.) Tsarskui Schip Sladkui; a sweet apple with open core never naliv, for sweet apples never are. (v.) Arkad Dlinnoi; one of the earliest, with an intense arcad flavor.
