GOULD WILL DISTRIBUTES
$36,000,000

Large Estate Divided Among His Widow and Ten Children.

Toms River, N. J., June 5.—In the will of George Jay Gould, filed for probate in the Ocean County Court, bequeathing an estate estimated at $36,000,000 to his widow and ten children, Mr. Gould made public acknowledgment for the first time that he was the father of George Sinclair Gould, Jane Sinclair Gould and Guinevere Gould, born out of wedlock before his marriage to his second wife, Mrs. Guinevere Sinclair Gould.

Mr. Gould married Guinevere Sinclair an English actress, after the death of his first wife, Edith Kingston Gould, also an actress, by whom he had seven children.

Although the three children of his second wife, whose father Mr. Gould acknowledged himself to be in his will, are excluded from inheriting their father's share in the original Jay Gould trust, they are provided in two trusts set up for their benefit.

By the terms of the will the late Mr. Gould's share in his father's estate is distributed equally among the seven children of his first marriage to Edith Kingston Gould.

GOOD THINGS COMING
TO THE THEATRES
OF ST. JOHNDumbbells Coming;
Social Event Too

The Merry Soldier Entertainers Will Give St. John Quite a Little Stir, as Usual—Quite a Show.

The ticket sale for the Dumbbells tomorrow and Thursday indicates another fashionable flurry at the night shows. Such conditions always add to the enjoyment of the performance both on the stage and in the seats; it gives impetus and snap to the programme. The suburban population—summerers—are planning an automobile invasion. It would seem, judging from the ticket purchases among the out-of-town community. While the advent of summer and other distractions might not give the Dumbbells show its proper importance in the minds of all, it is sincerely assured that this year's version is the very best effort of the best men in the various companies heard here of late years, an amalgamation of talent that surpasses all others, backed up by a new show in every detail.

How Father Finn
Controls His Singers

Those who have heard Father Finn's Chorists say that a good third of the interest in watching the boys as they sing. They never take their eyes off him. Sometimes they look as though they were hypnotized, and with their bird-like faces all turned the one way they make a very attractive picture. What really happens is this. From the moment the number starts Father Finn is listening intently to get an idea of the acoustics of the hall. By what he hears in that few minutes he decides the certain numbers must be sung. One great number he varies in four ways, according to the conditions. As nobody but himself knows what way, everybody has to watch for his signals. He really plays on the boys' throats as if they were so many organ pipes, and every one of them knows exactly what he wants. It is a slight worth seeing, and those who see it know the secret of the choir's success. The Paulet Chorists will be heard at the Imperial on the 15th. Mail orders begin 8th. Box office sale 11th.

BETTER CAR SERVICE

Today the new street car service to East St. John was inaugurated and residents of that district expressed themselves as highly pleased. Now there are two cars which run from Little River to King Square and provide a twenty-minute service. Temporary arrangements have been made for a passing at Cooper's Corner until a permanent turn-out has been constructed. Cars now leave King Square at two, twenty-two and forty-two minutes past the hour.

SIXTEENTH CENTURY CUSTOM REVIVED

A quaint pageant reviving a custom, which was observed from the days of Henry VIII, until a century ago, took place in England in May when the ceremony of "Landing the Pie" was repeated. In Henry's reign a woman of El Pie Island made such delicious eel pies that the fame reached the king's ears. He journeyed up the Thames to sample them and thereafter ordered that the first pie each year should be delivered to him. The successors observed the custom until the reign of George III.

ADVERTISE TO PROMOTE PEACE

Guaranty Trust Co. Official Addresses Convention—The Professional Man and the Newspapers.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 5.—As the issues of the war were brought to stir men's souls through advertising, so might the issue of peace be presented through the same medium to guide the way to a solution, said Francis H. Sisson, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, to the Financial Advertisers' Association at its annual convention today.

"In the broad domains of public relations which arise in a democracy," he said, "advertising can be employed with great power to serve useful needs. Many problems of public regulation and legislation furnish an opportunity for advertising service, as is bound to become increasingly apparent. Advertising is on the threshold of its golden age."

"It will increasingly attract better brains, and it will increasingly offer fuller scope to the creative geniuses of business, science, art and literature. Its possibilities for service, in fact, challenge the boldest and most far-reaching imagination."

Mr. Sisson said there was no code of ethics that prevented professional people from advertising their services as merchants advertise their wares. He pointed to banks and other institutions which formerly thought it unseemly to advertise, but who now have dispelled "that bugbear."
