" FOR YOU." A happy bird sang out to me. Sang from her nest in the hawthorn tree; This the song she warbled to me:
"The flowers grow purple, red and blue: The flowers from mounds and garden beds;
They smile from mounds and garden beds;
They lift dow-wet their radiant heads;
And one is growing there for you.
One rare sweet flower will bloom for you.

The scho game back, "For you,"
"Twas the gay wild bird, I know.
Still singing, "For you, for you,
The flowers are opening withfeelers gay;
Down in the garden such clusters grow.
Nodding merrily—oh, you'll know
Batere the close of the golden day;
But I must away, away, away."

Then a ripple of song ran over The field of daisies and clover. And away the wild bird flew, Lost lost to my view A yolce my whole soul stirred,
A yolce my whole soul stirred,
That tenderly said, "For you.

The whole of my love is for you." NOTES AND NEWS.

Waverley, L. I. Result, a furious fire all day, two hundred cords of wood burned up, at unoccupied dwelling destroyed, and considerable standing timber permit-ted to lie down. But oh! what fun it ust have been for the boys! One of those domestic puzzles which asanity in any one trying to comprehend are calculated to superinduce emotional them has been propounded in the town of Bow, N. H. Three misguided brothers in that strange place have married persons holding the relations to each other of mother, daughter, and granddaughter. Suppose they a 1 have c ildren, what will be the various relationships of the different territors.

A young man in New Orleans was en gaged to a wealthy young lady, and up-Ladies' and Gentlemen's on his marriage with her was destined to receive a handsome fortune. A rival stepped in, bowever, and published the young man as a deceiver and a fraud, and in consequence of the placard the young lady broke off the engagement. The rejected suitor now sues the interloper for damages to the amount of the property which he would have obtained possession of had he married the lady. Where is Lynch?

An enormous woman died recently in New York. She was colored, and a native of Virginia, and, although but 25 rears of age, had attained enormous proortions, and weighed nearly 500 pounds. After her death her relatives were com-pelled to have an immense wooden box made to contain her remains, and as the box was too large to be carried up stairs it was placed in the back yard, and the body after having been prepared for burial, was carried down stairs and placed in it. After the box was closed it was found necessary, in order to carry it out into the street, to tear down a portion of

We read of a young school mistress in Ohio, who being like unto the icicle which hangs on Dian's temple, though extremely handsome, is vowed to Minera and the spelling books. Being much era and the spelling books. Being much embarrassed on her way to and from the academy by the admiring young men of the vicinage, and not being able to keep a lion to ride upon, she has trained a faithful Tray to guard her. The sagacious dog knows exactly what is meant when he sees a juvenile gentleman in his Sunday clothes waving a pocket-hand-kerchief, and the too ardent wooer is sure to be bitten and gnawed. Forty mistaken Endymions have already been lacerated.

THE Subscriber begs to announce to his friends and the public generally that he has leased and fitted up for a HOUSE OF ENTERTAINMENT the above delign full property on the MANAWAGONISH ROAD. This place is BRAUTIFULLY SITUATED about five miles from the city, and the drive presents a great variety of scenery.

Here is yet another Enoch Arden story, but it is not a bit poetical. Five years ago Mr. McDonald, of Fall River, suddenly disappeared, and soon after a body was found in a neighboring pond. Mrs. McD. recognized it as the original property. Was found in a neighbouting pond. Mrs. McD. recognized it as the original property of her lost husband, and after burying it and wearing black for a proper period, she gathered together her five children and took unto them a new father in the person of Mr. Benson. The other day Mr. McDonald startled the household by darkening the doorway with his stalwart form. Benson slunk out of sight, and McDonald upbraided the frailty that stood before him, and demanded his children. The woman readily obliged him on that point, and obliged Benson at the same time, by joining him in his retreat from the exciting scene.

Five hundred guineas is now a commo price for an ordinary pair of London carriage horses, standing about 15.2. The English naval vessel Challenger, now on a selentific cruise, arrived at Maderia on the 16th July from Bermuda and the Azores. A shrimp had been found having four eyes, two of which are on the knee joints or its front legs, the sight from which can converge across its tail and so insure, its never being caught napping on any occasion.

They have a wild and gamesome sort, of ghost in Pennsylvania. There is one of ghost in Pennsylvania. There is one farm where stones, bones, green walnuts, and a variety of other small missiles are continually coming down from nowhere in unexpected showers, to the exceeding discomfort of the dwellers. All this happens in broad daylight, as does likewise the making of tracks under the yery eyes of the beholders. These tracks are of the most remarkable and unusual kind, being of tremendous size, and all made with the right foot. They are seen to follow people on horseback, while, horrible to think of, the form that makes them is wholly invisible.

There is no use disputing the fact that there is something in dreams. A man in Tennessee dreamed that two certain numbers would draw $10,000 prizes in the Louisville lottery. He went to Louisville hunted up the numbers and invested his $20, and after the drawing was made he was a poorer and wiser man for that dream.

Blessed thought! In the absence of anything else to keep up the excitement in the oil regions, the Titusville Heralds kindly starts the notion that breathing
