Ottawa, 12th September, 1905.

Sir,

With reference to your live stock return for June quarter it is noted that there are 76 head of cows and heifers of an age for breeding but only one bull. Has any arrangement been made to supply another bull?

It has been found that to obtain the best results from herds ranging on the prairie there should be a bull to every 25 or 30 cows.

Your obedient servant,
