The primary object of our home work for Foreign Missions is not to gather in shillings or even pounds; it is to secure an adequate realization of the whole great need which cost our Lord His life.—Bishop Ingham.

The death occurred lately at the Minster Precincts, Peterborough, of Mrs. Mansel, widow of the late Dean sel was eighty-three years of age.

The public funeral of the late Bishop Potter of New York will take place at Grace Church, New York, on October 20th, which is the 25th anniversary of the late prelate's consecration in that church. After the service has been held the interment will take place in the cathedral crypt.

Interesting services have been held at the ancient church of St Julian's, Beniworth (mentioned in the Domesday Book), to commemorate the partial restoration of the plain but interesting structure, and the restoration of the old rood screen. The latter dates from about the middle of the fifteenth century.

The old wooden windows in the nave of Cappoquin Church, in the Diocese of Waterford, Ireland, have lately been removed, and leaded lights with tinted cathedral glass substituted in their place. The windows are of a soft and pleasing shade of colour, with a handsome ornamental border, and are a great addition to the appearance of the already very beautiful church.

The Rev Canon Fleming, the wellknown vicar of St. Michael's, Chester Square, London, died in London on September 1, after a short illness, aged 78. He was for 35 years vicar of the parish, and for many years an honorary chaplain to our late Queen. In 1876 the late Earl of Beaconsfield appointed him a residentiary Canon Yorkminster, which position he held at the time of his death.

There was completed at Matlock parish churchyard recently a lychgate of old oak which has been presented by Miss Lawton. The inscription over the entrance to the gate is "Quem delecta Tabernacula," and Thee. on the reverse side, "Let not your heart be troubled." Inside is the inscription that the gate has been erected in memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knowles by their niece, Miss Charlotte Lawson.

The Rev. Prebendary Hutchinson, vicar of Blurton, Staffs., who is believed to be the oldest clergyman of the Church of England on the active list, celebrated his 98th birthday recently. He graduated at All Souls' College, Oxford, four years before the accession of Queen Victoria, and was curate of Dunchurch from 1833 to late Queen Victoria, and was present 1836. Forty-three years ago he was appointed to the living of Blurton, where he still preaches regularly.

Lord Wenlock presided on a recent date at Selby at a meeting of the executive committee of the Selby Abbey of St. Paul's, who did so much to Restoration Fund, which now stands infuse life into the services at the Metropolitan Cathedral. Mrs. Man-refloor the restored choir with black and white marble squares at a cost of £450. The most important business was the question of the new organ, and the meeting decided upon a fourfoot manual instrument, to occupy, north and south, the first bays of the choir and Latham Chapel.

The Rev. Canon Davies, who was the first curate-in-charge of St. Bartholomew's, Nottinghal, where he laboured for five years, is at present taking charge of his old parish for a fortnight in energy of the vicar, who is undergon, an operation for appendicitis. Canon Davies has for the last fourteen years been working as a missionary in Zululand and at the beginning of September is leaving England for Canada to take up work in the Diocese of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kent, for thirty-nine years the highly-respected parish clerk of Binsted, and his wife, celebrated their golden wedding recently. Mr. and Mrs. Kent were married at Binsted Church, and have resided in their present abode ever since. In the evening of the anniversary the Rev. A. Harre, rector of the parish, presented them with a beautifully illuminated framed address, containing the names of the past and present parishioners and landowners, and a purse of gold.

In celebration of the anniversary Beautify Your iately clergy and choir of St. Lawrence Jewry, in the city of London, walked in procession about the neighbourhood of the church singing hymns to the music of a cornet. From the steps of the memorial fountain in Guildhall Square the rector, the Rev. Stephen Barrass, conducted a service, facing a large crowd, and n the course of a three-minute address gave a history of St. Lawrence Church. When William the Conqueror came to England-and possibly for one or two centuries before then—a Church of St. Lawrence stood upon that place. The name Jewry was added when the Jews who came over with William settled down in the district. The present church is 1,000

Also to commemorate Robert Drakes, minister of Thundersley, and William Tyms, curate of Hockley. Both April 26, 1556. Erected in 1908 by Protestants of Rayleigh and district.

In referring to the death of the late Rev. Canon Fleming, whose fame was truly world-wide, an English paper says:-"As an organizer in the cause of charity he has left a decided mark, and the great collections for the London hospitals at St. Michael's, Chester Square, are almost common knowledge His record was £1,508, which was collected in his church on one hospital Sunday. On a recent Sunday in Richhill Church a beautiful mural tablet was dedicated by the rector, the Rev. A. Wade Johnston, LL.D., to the glory of God and in memory of Francis James Best, J.P., C.C., Cushenard House, Richhill. The tablet, which was presented by the widow and family of the deceased stands about six feet high, and is about three feet six inches wide, is of one piece of beautiful marble from the Carrara quarries, and is placed in the transept wall of the church, and represents a rough-hewn rock against the side of which stands the figure of an angel, in bas relief, with outstretched wings, and whose graceful flowing robes rest against the trunk of an olive tree, the foliage of which forms fitting background of the subject. angel is pointing with the right hand to the inscription which is engraved in the polished face of the rock in black enamel letters. The grouping, the perspective, and the bold treatment of the work show an originality and beauty in design, the artistic skill of the Italian sculptor, Angelo Sarti,
