Special to the Daily Nugget. Vancouver, Oct. 8.—Great importance is attached to the Tenth National Irrigation Congress at Colorado Springs, and particular significance is lent to what will be done by the congress this year through the fact that the irrigation movement has been taken out of the sphere of merely propaganda and given a national importance through the action of last congress. Gather in Money

Seattle, Sept. 27.—Two men made the rounds of local business houses yesterday, claiming to represent Seattle trainmen, and presenting affidavits to the effect that they were duly authorized agents, requested aid for injured or sick railroad employes. They reaped a harvest, for, according to reports received at railroad offices, the business men were impressed by the appeal and responded liberally.

So far as the railroad officials and officers of the railroad men's organizations know there has never been any authority for such solicitations. Ben Williams, president of the Brotherhood of Trainmen, stated positively yesterday afternoon that his order the one presumed to be represented by the strangers, had no connection with the appeal. "That is not the way the brotherhood handles its affairs," said Mr. Williams. "The brotherhood provides for its own weekly benefits to sick or injured trainmen and has a regular death benefit fund. Any person claiming to represent the brotherhood and appealing for aid is an impostor and it would confer a favor upon the brotherhood for any person to inform the officers of the law where they might be found. I have already requested two members of the city detective force to arrest the strangers if they can be located."

The two strangers, armed with an affidavit signed by themselves, made the rounds of the wholesale district during the day. From reports received at the local railroad offices it is believed they were not given a rebuttal at any place and from $10 to $20 was secured from each of the prominent wholesale men or companies of the city.

Inquiries began to come into railroad offices shortly after noon, and it is inferred from this that the two strangers plied their ruse successfully and without any interference during the morning. As soon, however, as word of the matter was received, at the railroad offices the trainmen's officers were apprised of the facts and Mr. Williams promptly asked police aid in preventing further impositions.

IS NOW A NATIONAL ISSUE

Coal Strike Has Assumed That Character—Will Figure Largely in Coming Political Battle—Matter Will Be Dealt With by Next Session of Congress—Public Sentiment Demands an Investigation.

Washington, Oct. 8.—The anthracite coal strike is assuming the proportions of a national question and will soon become one of the great political issues. This is the opinion of the most conservative public men who are watching the situation. The coal strike fits in with the trusts. As the result anti-trust legislation will be pushed ahead ten years. Members of congress realize that the people are very much aroused on the subject of the rise in value of coal. They know that the people favor action by congress calculated to prevent a recurrence if not to alleviate the present situation. One week of cold weather when rich and poor alike will be compelled to live in unheated houses will create enough public sentiment to force legislation even in the short session beginning in December. But even should there be no legislation it is morally certain that there will be an investigation inquiring into the merits of the situation. And as a result much light will be shed on the working of the combination of railroads which control the anthracite coal fields. Whatever may be thought of the propriety of attempts to control by legislative enactments mere combinations of capital, it is held by lawyer in the department of justice that there is no question as to the propriety and power of the federal government to control the railroads. The coal trust will be found on inquiry to be merely a matter of coal transportation and it can therefore be reached much more easily than the majority of trusts. But in regulating and investigating the coal trust the general subject of trust legislation will be brought to the front and the subject will be discussed and argued in all its phases.

DISCHARGED SOLDIERS

Unable to Find Any Employment Grave Problem Arises From Return to England of South African Troops.

Special to the Daily Nugget. London, Oct. 8.—Secretary William St. John Brodrick and other war office officials are puzzled to know what to do for the unemployed reservists and discharged soldiers now returning from South Africa. The demobilization of the army at the Cape is throwing back upon the English labor market thousands of able-bodied workers for whom there is no apparent opening. Many of the returned reservists are in distress.

STRIKERS ARE FIRM

Special to the Daily Nugget. Pittsburg, Oct. 8.—President Mitchell has issued a statement to the effect that a meeting of the striking miners resolved "not to return to work until the demands as formulated at the Shamokin convention are granted or until the strike is called off by a convention of mine workers or by President Mitchell," and if all the troops in the United States were brought to the coal fields they could not force the men back to work.

Coal Famine on

New York, Sept. 26.—The coal shortage reached an acute stage today. The price of soft coal jumped to $8 a ton, $2.50 more than the price Wednesday, and three times as much as before the strike was begun. The quoted price of hard coal is $15, but it was merely nominal, as there was absolutely none to be had at any price. The price of wood followed coal. Kindling wood, selling a few days ago at $19 a cord, brought $12 today. Practically a complete fuel famine exists. Consumers throughout the city had postponed laying in a supply of coal, believing that the strike would be settled and prices fall. Dealers assert that the supply of anthracite in the city is not 1% per cent. of the demand, and that the present supply of soft coal is hardly 2% per cent. of the demand. Two steamers with a capacity of 7,000 tons have been chartered for the purpose of carrying cargoes of Welsh anthracite coal from Swansea to the United States. Blue and yellow French tobacco at Gandolfo's.

RIKES ARE FIRM

Special to the Daily Nugget. London, Oct. 8.—There is trouble in the Chamberlain camp and though the colonial secretary affects to treat the matter lightly, it is clear from the fact that he is summoned to a conclave of his supporters that the matter cannot be discussed with a sneer at the "revolting two hundred."
