EMMERSON LIBEL CASE

Defence Pleads Statement is True and in Public Interest.

Plaintiff Claims Libel in Few Words Only—Whole Article Not Admitted—Panic in Prosecution Camp—Premier Pugsley Asks For Adjournment—"No Technical Defence" Says Counsel.

Fredericton, N. B., May 30.—When the criminal libel suit entered against The Gleaner by Hon. Mr. Emmerson opened yesterday morning before magistrate Marsh, it was generally known that no testimony would be heard until afternoon, and only a handful of people had assembled. Within the bar were J. D. Hazen, K. C., M. P. P., leader of the Provincial Opposition; Mayor McLeod, and O. S. Crockett, M. P., counsel for the defendant. Mr. Emmerson had not arrived, nor had his leading counsel, Premier, Hon. William Pugsley.

J. H. Barry, K. C., on behalf of the crown, asked an adjournment until the afternoon. He read a telegram from Premier Pugsley, stating that he would arrive at Fredericton with Mr. Emmerson on the C. P. R. express from Montreal.

The C. P. R. train was late, and it was three o'clock before Hon. Mr. Emmerson and his counsel entered the court room. Meanwhile a large crowd had assembled and many curious glances were directed toward the witnesses for the defence. These included John Lloyd, white-haired and with white moustache, who for 30 years had been night clerk at the St. Lawrence Hall, Montreal; Harry Dean, a Scotchman of soldierly cut, who served under Gen. Gordon and who happened to be the night watchman at the hotel on the Sunday night when it is said that Mr. Emmerson and his companions were ejected; G. M. Smyth, accountant of the Hogan estate (owners of the St. Lawrence Hall), who brought with him the register of the hotel.

Although counsel for the defendant offered, in open court, to admit that J. H. Crockett had written the alleged libel, Premier Pugsley insisted that he should be allowed to prove it. For this purpose he had subpoenaed the editor of The Fredericton Gleaner, but only one was called, namely, Douglas Black, city editor, who threw but little light on the subject.

Again, Mr. Hazen protested on behalf of Mr. Crockett that the latter admitted that he wrote the article. "We have no technical defence," he thundered. "We say that the article is true and that it was published in the public interest."

After examining this witness, Mr. Pugsley asked for an adjournment. There was plainly a panic in the camp of the prosecution, and there was evident relief when the kindly magistrate adjourned the trial until to-day, after a session of 30 minutes.

Mr. Emmerson appears to be in poor health. He was quite nervous throughout the session and was constantly tearing up bits of paper and throwing them upon the floor. A telegram, handed him during the trial, seemed to depress him deeply. He read it over and over again, and his hands trembled to such an extent as to cause very general comment throughout the court room. It is rumored that the message was a cable from Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

The first witness called yesterday afternoon was John B. Hawthorne, jailer of the County of York. Not long since he purchased a copy of The Gleaner of date March 27. The paper was produced and Mr. Barry, on behalf of the crown, offered in evidence a sentence or two from quite a long editorial, these sentences comprising the charge that Mr. Emmerson was expelled from the St. Lawrence Hall, Montreal, in company with two women of ill repute. Mr. Hazen, for the defendant, insisted that the entire article must be put in evidence. Premier Pugsley objected strenuously to this. It would open the door to investigations as to the character of George W. Fowle, M. P. He denounced The Gleaner editorial as a "most horrible and slanderous article." The magistrate overruled the objection and confined the testimony to that excerpt from The Gleaner article which is quoted in the affidavit.

Douglas Black testified that The Gleaner had a large circulation in Canada and the United States. On March 27 last he understood in a general way that J. H. Crockett, the defendant, was editor of the paper. He was probably in Fredericton on that day. Witness had read The Gleaner that day. He thought that the "Mr. Emmerson" referred to in The Gleaner article was Hon. Henry R. Emmerson, ex-Minister of Railways and Canals. He was unable to say who wrote the article. He could not say that it was written by the defendant, James H. Crockett. The trial was adjourned until this morning at 10 o'clock.

PAINTINGS FOR EXHIBITION.

Twenty-Eight Valuable Pictures From Laval Collection.

Toronto, May 30.—Dr. Orr, manager of the Canadian National Exhibition, received word yesterday that 28 valuable historical paintings from Laval University will be on exhibition here. The collection includes portraits of General Wolfe, by Sir Joshua Reynolds; Joseph Brant, the Indian, by Breezy; Louis XV. and Montcalm, by La Tour; General Amherst, by Lawrence, and an Indian Girl, by LeGarre.

This will be the first time that these famous works have been permitted to leave the galleries and corridors of Laval University.

Negro Gets Two Years.
Pittsburg, Pa., May 30.—Wm. B. Decosta, colored, who was convicted of perjury in connection with the trial of Clifford Hooe, the negro coachman, formerly in the employ of Augustus Hartje, was yesterday sentenced to serve two years.

May 'Bo Girl's Murderer.

New York, May 30.—An attempted criminal assault on a five-year-old girl in Cerena, L. I., yesterday gave rise to the suspicion that Henry Becker might not, after all, have been the assailant of Amelia Staffeldt, the 15-year-old girl who was killed in a field in Elmhurst last Wednesday.

The culprit in yesterday's attempted outrage was arrested and he answers fairly well the description given by Joseph Engel of the man he saw running away from the lot on which the Staffeldt girl was murdered.

ASYLUM FOR INEBRIATES.

Premier Whitney Not in Favor of Minister of Health.

Toronto, May 30.—The Ontario Medical Association decided yesterday morning that the only way to redeem inebriates was to keep them in restraints and give them special treatment.

The subject was brought up in an address by Dr. Edward Ryan of Kingston, who said that drunkenness was one of the worst evils that physicians had to combat. The loss to the state and to society, he added, could not be computed.

Mr. Justice Riddell was present and strongly supported the establishment of an institution in the province where inebriates might be treated. Some of the delegates were not sure that an asylum of this kind would be a success, but eventually it was agreed to request the Government to establish such an hospital, where those who were far gone in the liquor habit might have some chance of recovery.

The chairman reported that a special committee had waited on the Premier to urge the appointment of a Minister of Public Health. Mr. Whitney did not receive the idea very favorably. At least he saw considerable difficulty in the way of such an increase in the Cabinet and there seems no likelihood of a new Minister being appointed in the immediate future.

ITALIANS ON TRIAL.

Charged With Murder During Drunken Bout on Christmas Day.

Parry Sound, May 30.—Two Italians, by name Capelle and Marano, laborers, are on trial for murder, before Justice Teetzel in the Assizes here. A verdict is expected to-day. It is charged that during a drunken carousal on Christmas Day, when they were interfered with, they attacked the others in a vicious manner. Capelle with a sharp-pointed weapon made from a file, whilst Marano flourished a revolver, discharging it several times, resulting in one death.

One of the witnesses was Mrs. McCormack, wife of the owner of the house where the row and murder took place. It was because of her that the fight took place. Her evidence was to the effect that the prisoners had attempted to assault her.

Court sat late last night and the defence called the prisoner, Marino, to the stand. His story was one of almost direct contradiction to the others told on the stand, but he said little to exonerate his partner, Capelle.

QUEBEC EXCEPTED.

Nova Scotian Students Admitted to Royal Medical Corps.

London, May 30.—(C. A. P.)—Principal MacAlister, at the session of the General Medical Council, said the committee had decided to grant recognition to Nova Scotia degrees, and Canadian medical students who fulfilled the conditions applicable to the Maritime Provinces, will now be eligible to commission in the Royal Army Medical Corps.

The King has not yet been pleased to apply the act to Quebec, as it is first necessary that the council be more fully informed as to the actual provision of the local law affecting admission to the provincial register of practitioners registered in the United Kingdom.

New Government for New Brunswick.

Fredericton, N. B., May 30.—A meeting of the Provincial Government was held here Tuesday evening and may last for a day or two.

Hon. C. H. Labllois, chief commissioner of public works, arrived, and Premier Pugsley came from Montreal. Lieut.-Governor Tweedie also arrived from St. John and to him Hon. Mr. Pugsley handed his resignation.

Hon. Clifford W. Robinson, Provincial Secretary, is to be called upon to form an administration, but there is considerable speculation as to who will be selected to become members, it being generally felt that there will be several changes made.

Geo. W. Allen, M.P.P., and Solicitor-General Jones, are both mentioned prominently in connection with the Attorney-Generalship under the new regime.

A Costly Pest.

Ottawa, May 30.—Dr. Fletcher, Dominion entomologist, will attend the convention which is to be held in the Annapolis Valley, Nova Scotia, next week, to discuss the best means of eradicating the brown tail moth, a pest that causes destruction in the orchards. This insect has made great havoc in the orchards of the New England States, and millions have been spent in trying to stamp it out. Recently it made its appearance in the Maritime Provinces.

The Nova Scotia Government is paying a bounty of three cents for each caterpillar nest brought in, and 2,000 have already been found.
