SACHEL OF THE SATELLITE

Keep both hands on the ballot boxes.

What's the good of carrying a roll of real money unless you show it.

It don't make much difference where, just burglarize any place.

Hurrah for Clancy and Clements. The one will do, the other has done.

Ald. Martin and Ald. Piggott were each apparently a little bilious last night.

I know now that there are some moneyed men in the Council. I saw the money.

Those Chatham burglars aren't very greedy. They're satisfied with a dollar per night.

Some people attain notoriety, others get in police court and others knock out a fellow.

Never mind, the policeman saw the place where the burglar got out if he didn't see where they went in.

Those burglars are just a little nice. They wouldn't take some copper in the till at the Central Drug Store.

There will be considerable good music in the Chatham Opera House when the Meister Singers appear next Monday night.

I can almost see that fine new market building which Ald. John Edmondson and Ald. G. G. Martin are going to build.

What's the difference between a "yellow" journal and "yellow" for money? I'm not going to answer that conundrum.

There are lots of rumors as to who will be the Grit candidate here. I just venture to remark that it will be N. H. Stevens.

Aeschylus says that the Greek watchword at the battle of Salamis was "All is at Stake." Ross says it is the same as to his big convention.

I have never seen a beehive ballot box, but I understand that it has delivered a knock out blow to the Ross-Stratton-Sullivan corruptionists.

Those millionaires, Ald. Martin and Piggott, were flashing their rolls last night. The rest of the Council had never seen so much money at one time.

I won't say definitely that N. H. Stevens is the Liberal candidate because then the convention would have to nominate him and he might not want it.

I'm expecting every day to hear that ex-Mayor Hugh Macdonald has introduced a course in Garlic as part of the training for a nurse at the Public General Hospital.

The Christmas number of Out-Door Life, a splendid magazine devoted to field sports and red and gun, is to hand. This number is particularly rich in hunting stories. A feature of this magazine is the wonderful pictures of wild animals and game birds in their natural haunts. Out-Door Life is published in Denver.

AT IT AGAIN

The Versatile Midnight Mechanics this Time Give Wm. Bennett a Friendly Call.

Like Horace Walpole and Marborough's victories, we have to ask every morning now whose place was burglarized last night for fear we miss one. Wm. Bennett's billiard hall and cigar store was tackled last night. About 10.45 p. m. P. C. Tom Groves dropped into Mr. Bennett's place on business. "You'd better lock up good and snug to-night," remarked the policeman.

"Oh, that's all right," replied Mr. Bennett. "I'm not afraid. No one can possibly get in here."

To make doubly sure Mr. Bennett looked at the windows at the back and saw that they were secure before he left.

About 2.30 a. m. P. C. Tom Groves found the back window open. He notified Mr. Bennett and the latter gentleman was much surprised to be called up. On examination it was found that the door had apparently been broken from the inside. Nothing was broken and the window had apparently been opened from the inside.

Mr. Bennett thinks that the burglar concealed himself in the store and was locked in. The till was carried down in the cellar and about $6.25 in change secured. A few cigars and pipes were also missed. An attempt was also made to get into John McCord's store, but the burglars only succeeded in getting into the furnace room in the L. O. O. F. block.

Mr. McCord had one experience and since then he has had his store made almost impregnable.

REV. MR. COBBLEDICK'S ATTACK.

To the Editor of The Planet:

Dear Sir,—I would like to say to Mr. Cobbledick that more uncalculated and untruthful statements were never uttered than his remarks in his sermon on Sunday evening regarding the players of our lacrosse team of last season, and I think an apology from Mr. Cobbledick from his pulpit, where he made the accusations, is due the members of the team, and also to the executive of the team.

I was interested in the team from Aug. 1 to the end of the season, and became familiar with all of the boys. A more gentlemanly lot of young fellows was never got together. If gambling places exist here they were never started by any of the lacrosse boys, nor do any of the boys frequent them.

So far as the amount of money which is spent in sports is concerned compared with the amount of money spent in churches, if Mr. Cobbledick's sermon was a sample of the good done in churches, why, then we had better spend our money in sports.

Take the make-up of the team. Messrs. Robinson, Bruce, Stewart, Elliott, Wilson and Angus. Everyone knows these boys, and their employers will vouch for their honesty and good habits. Rev. E. C. Hayden, of Dresden,—why, the mere fact that he played on the team ought to be sufficient assurance to anyone that the personnel of the team was good.

Francis and Pickering, who are in college now,—I never met two more modest and unassuming young men. Such was the opinion of all good people of the city who came in contact with them. Fred Dowling is studying for the ministry; McLaren, Carter and McBride are all fine fellows, whom everyone had a good word for.

I don't think anyone regrets the money spent in lacrosse. They were all clean, good games, and we won every game from start to finish. If these boys were the dissipated wretches Mr. Cobbledick pictures them, how does he account for their splendid condition and record. If our people didn't see some amusement at home would they not be looking to Detroit to see professional baseball, taking the money away from Chatham and spending twice as much. Mr. Cobbledick says they were high-salaried and didn't show up at the last game in all that. That was an account of Mr. Carter being taken sick with typhoid fever and Mr. McBride being called to Brandon by telephone, consequently the manager did the best he could and substituted other players, but he was honest about it and informed the public manager to that effect, and gave him the championship but not the game. The money was all spent legitimately, as the accounts in Mr. Falls' office will show, $350 of which went to the Agricultural Society, which was a great benefit to them.

The team was largely supported by the generosity and subscriptions of citizens. I think everybody was satisfied and they all hope to see Chatham have as good a team next season. People bet on lacrosse games, it is true, but the players did not. People bet on yard races, elections, etc., but you can't stop that.

LACROSSE PATRON.

THE LACROSSE TEAM.

To the Editor of The Planet:

Dear Sir,—Permit me to say that in your issue of yesterday you have indirectly reported my words and misapplied the emphasis of my reference to the Lacrosse Club. Speaking of the things that bring men to the condition of being dead broke financially I included sports, and said, "I believe in clean amateur athletics, but there should be a distinct line drawn between athletics and what are generally called sports. Those who know, tell me that sports are very expensive. Some of the men who have been supporting the aggregation gathered from everywhere and known as the Chatham Lacrosse Team, will tell you that the cost of churches is not to be compared with the cost of sports. These men were represented as belonging to Chatham and not being paid, whereas many of them did not belong to the city and were paid; and the best proof that they did not belong to Chatham was that when the last game came to be played some of them had scattered and were not available and the game had to go by default after all that had been spent on the team. It is time the manhood of our city should refuse to be duped in such ways. I am informed that some of the team engaged in gambling and encouraged others to gamble, and it is said the results of it are in the city yet."

The difference between this and the purport of my words reported in your column is sufficiently obvious. I was dealing with sports in contrast to amateur athletics. Athletics have their place for physical development; sports are the professionalizing of athletics as a source of livelihood. It was the encouragement of this by our city that I condemned. I did not call the players "sports." I made no reference to the personnel of the team as a whole. I did not hold them, but the line of sport, responsible for the betting. I did not say they cost the city thousands of dollars, but that this line of sport had cost that. I did not say that the members of the team generally gambled, but that I was informed "some" of them did.

My information was received from what I had reason to consider reliable sources and I understood it to be freely spoken of. I have, however, been very glad to be assured since that it was incorrect in two particulars, viz., that no members of the team ever gambled, and that the reason that some were not available for the last game was that they were sick.

I had no desire to cast any unjust reflections but to combat a tendency

WOMAN'S GREATEST ENEMY

Constipation the cause of most Women's troubles—An easy way to Permanently cure this Painful Condition.

There are few women indeed who do not suffer with chronic constipation. Nearly all are slaves to some kind of medicine to correct this trouble, and yet they get nothing but temporary relief. One period of constipation is followed by another and it's physic, physic, physic, year in and year out, till life becomes a burden. There is now a sure cure for this condition and a cure that does not have to be repeated.

Dr. Leonard, of Lincoln, Neb., is the author of this prescription. He used it for his own practice as a remedy for dyspepsia, biliousness and constipation.

Many ladies who have suffered for years are now enjoying good health and a perfect freedom from the old constipation through the use of Anti-Pill.

Mrs. Tabb, 287 Emerald St., North Hamilton, Ont., writes—
"I am no longer troubled with constipation. I cannot praise Anti-Pill too highly."
