An interesting event is expected to take place shortly in the family of the Imperial Prince of Germany.
A Toledo chap was quite sniffling with his neighbor's wife. She did it with a toiling pin.
Out of the present estimated population (200,000) of the Imperial Majesty's Indian domain there are about 20,000 who profess the Mohammedan faith.
A man named Brown was brutally murdered in a low doggerly, at Toronto, on the 19th, during a fight which had occurred about a horse race.
The British Government, through the House of Commons, and the Treasurer of Canada over his own signature, have pronounced the Halifax Chronicle's "Secret Treaty" a hoax of the purest water.
How to make a pair of boots last five years.—Melt and mix three ounces of beeswax with two ounces of sweet oil. Rub the mixture into the boots whole hot, then lock them up in a cupboard, and let the waxing you've got to do in a pair of shoes.
The trial of Marshal Bazaine for the capitulation of Metz is expected and the prospect just now occupies public attention. As he can only be tried by his peers there is some difficulty in assembling a court martial which is competent, as nearly all the marshals of France, of whom the court must be composed, were themselves concerned in the same capitulation or surrendered during the war.
A movement is on foot in England, in the Established Church, favoring the licensing of laymen as lay readers, with authority to act in any parish to which they may be invited by the clergyman in charge. It is believed the ordination of churchmen as deacons, without requiring them to abandon their worldly business, is a measure urgently called for in the present condition of the Church.
An economical Iowan, who had a toothache, determined to remove it in the Indian fashion. Accordingly, he bent down a sapling in the woods, lay down himself, and attacked a stout cork to his tooth and the sapling. Then he touched the sapling, and the next he knew he had jumped over a grove of about forty small trees, and was trying to get out of a small pond that he happened to alight in.
It is to wine drinking we owe the origin of the kiss. A Mr. Macdonald, through the bungling of the barmaid with a straw, the custom being general in Rome for the husband to kiss the lips of his wives, that they might discover the quality of their good ladies' stolen libations; and Cato, the elder, recommends this plan to the serious attention of all careful heads of families.
The Lord Advocate has introduced the Scotch Education Bill. The main feature of it is the compulsory election of school boards by the emulative vote, the handling over to these elected boards of the existing school of school boards, and the absolute discretion as to religion instruction of course with a Tactful and Conscience Clause. There will therefore be no prohibition in Scotland of Catholic or distinctive formularies, as in England, the Lord Advocate professing to solve the religious difficulty by saying nothing about it.
A shrewd young Vermont Yankee who had acquired some reputation for "sowing wild-oats," mounted a high spirited colt and went rushing through the streets of the village, when he was accosted by two "standers-by" thus: "Stop! stop! and tell us the blindest lie you ever told." "Oh, I can't," was his quick reply. "M—H— has broken his leg, and I am after the doctor," and on he galloped. The fact that a neighbor a mile distant was suffering with a broken limb enlisted their warmest sympathies, and they immediately stamped off through the scorching sun to find H—M— hale, hearty and sound in his field at work. The two never spoke of it again, and told their neighbor "big lie," even if he had time.
A disconsolate editor thus becomes his departed better half: "Thus my wife died. No more will those loving hands pull my boots and part my back hair, as only a true wife can. Nor will ever those willing feet replenish the coal-burner or water-pail. No more will she arise amid the tempestuous storms of winter, and bid herself away to build the fire without disturbing the slumbers of the man who doted on her so artlessly. Her memory is enshrined in my heart of hearts. I wanted to enshrine her body, but I found that I could enshrine her memory cheaper. I procured of Bill Mulgott, a neighbor of mine, a very pretty grave-stone. His wife was consumptive, and he kept it on hand several years, in anticipation of her death; but she rallied last spring, and his hopes were blasted. Never shall I forget the poor man's grief when I asked him to part with it. 'Take it, skin-deep, and may you never know what it is to have your soul rocked with disappointment, as mine has been,' and he burst into a flood of tears. His spirit was, indeed, broken."
