THE JUDGMENT.

Following is the text of order made y Justice teetzel:

y Justice teetzel:
In the High Court of Justice Hon. Mr. Kinrade Justice Teetzel, in chambers Monday, April 26th, 1909.

Re a certain inquest now being held

April 26th, 1909.

Re a certain inquest now being held in the city of Hamilton, in the County of Wentworth, in the Province of Ontario, touching the death of Ethel Kinrade, before Dr. Anderson, coroner for the city of Hamilton.

Upon the application of counsel for Thomas L. Kinrade, father of Florence Kinrade, it is ordered that a writ of certiorari be issued on consent directed to Dr. Anderson, the coroner holding an inquest, as to the death of one Ethel Kinrade, ordering him forthwith to transmit to the High Court of Justice at Toronto, the warrant of commitment, information and other documents, upon which he acted, in issuing the said warrant against Florence Kinrade, the Crown reserving all rights and objections to the issue of the writ of certiorari, as well as other matter.

BAUM DISAPPOINTED.

Art. Cartwright, the Deputy Attorney-General, intimated that the jury would be formally called at Hamilton to-night and another adjournment made till af-ter the legal point is cleared up. The Kinrade lawyers were evidently well satisfied with the turn things had taken.

WHAT IT MEANS. Justice Teetzel's action at Toronto this morning in granting the writ of certiorari, applied for by the Kinrade family's counsel, to test the legality of the bench warrant Coroner Anderson is sued for the arrest of Florence Kinrade with the object of compelling her to attend the investigation and give further evidence, means that the inquest will be adjourned to-night without the hearing of any evidence. The jury will formally meet and immediately adjourn, probably until Wednesday or Thursday night. The Crown authorities appear determined not to record with the in-maily meet and immediately adjourn, probably until Wednesday or Thursday night. The Crown authorities appear determined not to proceed with the investigatio. Until they can place Missis Kinrade in the witness box again.

Crown Attorney Washington when he heard the news from Toronto this morning did not seem surprised. In fact, he expressed satisfaction that the matter had been referred to the Divisional Court, where he believes it will be disposed of without delay.

When Mr. Washington was asked if The Kinrade, father of the murdered firl, and his wife would be on hand tonight in view of the fact that new subpoenaes had been made for them, he said it was unimportant whether they were or not, as no witnesses would be called to-night, the Crown insisting on placing Florence Kinrade on the stand as its next witness.

The detectives say that a greatly mistaken impression as to the object in recalling Miss Kinrade seems to have gone abroad. There is no desire to worner the stand to hear the stand as its next witness.

The detectives say that a greatly mis-taken impression as to the object in recalling Miss Kinrade seems to have gone abroad. There is no desire to worgone abroad. There is no desire to worry her or, put her to any more inconveniences than possible. When Mr. Blackstock examined her before he was probing in the dark. Since then he has secured new information, and if Miss Kinrade can give some further light on it, as the authorities believe she can, it will doubtless be of material assisting the second of the dark of the second of the county. it will doubtless be of material assistance in clearing up-the mystery.

As intimated in the Times on Saturday, the detectives are wavering on their old theory. Information comes from the south which makes them look back to a theory that they seized upon in the early stages of the case with some show of hope, but later abandoned. This theory was that Ethel Kinrade's slayer was a man from the south.

While the old theory is being experience.

slayer was a man from the south.

While the old theory is being carefully considered again, because there is evidence to give it color, there is a different man in the case. The first man under suspicion has cleared himself entirely. The detectives discovered two days after they began chasing the old clue that there was not a possibility of his having been mixed up in it. The investigation conducted since then in the south is said to have dragged in another mysterious to have dragged in another mysterious ind idual, whose name, if the police know it, they are carefully guarding. The motive for the murder, if this theory is correct, is not quite clear, unless Ethel was mistaken for Florence, by the

There has been so much talk in the papers about smilling, jovial Jimmy Baum, the Virginian actor, who appears to take all thingt as they come and treat nothing seriously, that the Royal Hotel and vicinity have been infested by curious people anxious to get a peep at him. One or two fellows, who bear somewhat of a resembalnee to him, were pointer out as the man from the south on James street yesterday, and were made the target for curious eyes, until the mistake was discovered. Baum was in Toronto yesterday with Detectives Pender and Rogers, but he was back here bright and early this morning, registered at the Royal Hotel. This suggests that the Crown authorities expected the inquest will proceed to-night.

CORONER McMAHON'S VIEWS.

CORONER McMAHON'S VIEWS. The legal point raised by Mr. Staunton, who challenges the authority of the coroner to issue a bench warrant for Florence Kinrade's arrest, has attracted a great deal of interest throughout Canada. The Montreal Herald has an interview with Dr. McMahon, one of the most experienced coroner's in the country. He says:

"The Coroner has undoubted power to arrest a witness who refuses to ans-wer a subpoena."

wer a subpoena."
"There is no statute which says directly that the coroner has the right to order arrest. But there is the common law. A coroner is ordered to hold an inquest in cases of suspicious death. This implies that he has the power to hold the inquest—to order the attendance of witnesses and to compel their attendance. Otherwise the inquest could not bring Otherwise the inquest could not bring out the truth, as those interested could stay away.

"The question has been fought out before, and there is absolutely no doubt as to the coroner's right to order arrest. The powers of the coroner are greater than those of an ordinary magistrate. The ordinary magistrate cannot hold person without a warrant. The coroner can."

One of the standard treatises on somers is by Boys, and he says on this coint: "He has authority to issue a unmons to compel their attendance, and to commit them if they refuse to unpear."

He, moreover, gives the legal form of an order of such arrest, which, how-ever, is a county warrant and only good in the county for which the coroner that in such a case, where the witness is outside the jurisdiction of the coroner, he may send the warrant to the coroner of the district in which the witness is at the time, and that coroner, markng the warrant O. K., makes it service-tible in that district by any constable or fficer of that district.

NO SESSION TO-NIGTH.

Toronto, April 25.—(Sp. 41)—" We, will not go on with the inquest till we can call Miss Florence Kinrade as a witness," said Detective John Miller this morning, after Mr. Justice Teetzel had given his decosion.

"I had to give up engagements that will mean a loss to me of hundreds of dollars," he said. "I fully expected I would be called last night, and be able to go back home to-morrow, but they here now, and I suppose would be called last night, and be able to go back home to-merrow, but they have got me here now, and I suppose they won't let me go till they are good and ready. They don't consider the loss of money this trip will mean to me."

The men suspected of instigation of the mutiny of April 13 have been separated from the main bodies of prisoners, and will be tried by court martial. These trials, however, have not begun. It is rumored to-day that prisoners are being shot in the country beyond the Swea Waters, but definite assurances were obtained at Schefket Pasha's headouarters that no executions had yet headquarters that no executions had yet occurred, although a considerable num ber was probable.

If this is refused we must attack."

The Macedonians referred to were behind a series of low terraced walls, between 300 and 400 vards from the Albanian barracks. Their cartridge belts were full. Mr. Lewis' Bill Amended and Referred to House Committee.

(Special Despatch to the Times.)

Ottawa, April 26.-The special com mittee appointed to consider Mr. Lewis' daylight saving bill met to-day, and agreed to report the bill to the House committee, which had issued a circular to each municipality, board of trade and railway company in Canada with a request for an expression of opinion as to the usefulness or otherwise of the proposed measure, and a large number of replies were received favorable to the proposed change. The committee found that there would be no practical difficulty in adjusting clocks and watches, as simply advancing the hands of a clock one hour on the first Sunday in November would attain the object desired. The bill was amended by substituting the first Sunday in April as the time for making the chance, and the first Sunday in November for the last day of October as the time to revert to the ordinary time. The word "local" is also changed to "standard" time in the bill.
