

Our Dead in France.

(Written for The Catholic Bulletin by Helen Hughes Hiescher) When Spring shall lead her beauteous train Across the winter ravished hills, The fairest flowerets in her train Shall deck each grave a hero fills. Here gentle girls their wreaths shall lay Above the grassy mounds and weep. And children whisper in their play, "Tread lightly, do not break their sleep." And mourning mothers shall entwine Their memories with their own sons' dead, And wandering there at even-shine Shall breathe a prayer above their bed. On feast days to their grassy graves Shall fathers lead their boys and tell Of brothers true from o'er the waves Who for their freedom fighting fell. And bearded men who till the soil When passing by that hallowed spot, Shall reverent pause in their toil, Salute the brave, the unforget, But oh! Columbia's heart shall ache Nor shall her flowing tears be dried Till to her bosom she may take Her own who for her honor died.

A Tribute of the Power of the Blessed Virgin

Concluded "Ah, too well I know the force of this objection! And how often have I not wished that in this wonderful age of ours some genius would discover a means infallible of bridging this unruly faculty and making it subject to our will and inclination; so that, fixed and immovable, our mind might remain wholly absorbed in the thought to which it had directed its attention! I know not what the genius of man may yet do, but I fear that this passes the bounds and limits of his power. Yet I do not complain; for I know that we, the children of the Church, have a means, easy and accessible, which, while not entirely curing the evil, reduces it to a minimum of annoyance. "Let me tell you, my brethren, of my experience when I arrived here yesterday. I had been on the road all day and a part of the night before, and when I reached your pastor's house I begged him to allow me to retire to my room and take a much needed rest. He very kindly agreed; and I was shown to my room, where I at once prepared to retire. As I knelt down to say my prayers, I saw before me a beautiful crucifix. The figure was of carved ivory and the cross of ebony. I could not but admire the exquisite work; still, its very beauty only served to emphasize more and more the dreadful tragedy. The outstretched hands and delicately carved feet bore the cruel nail-prints, though the whole surface had no trace of blood, its death-like pallor appealed to me even more strongly. What a dreadful death! What a dreadful part I bore in it! And as I closed my eyes, the same thing took place that marked my opening words to-night. The room and its surroundings were far away, and again the tragedy of Good Friday was enacted in my sight. I heard the dying cry of my Redeemer; and as the last sigh escaped His blessed lips, I saw His head droop on His breast. His swollen lips part. His eyes glaze—and His was dead! "There stood His Mother, whom but a moment ago I heard Him commend to John, and through John to you and me. Were it possible, my dear brethren, for distracting thoughts to intrude here? And as I opened my eyes once more and found myself back in the room, I gazed

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat. No wonder catarrh causes headache; impairs the taste, smell and hearing; pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite. To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic. I was ill for four months with catarrh in the head and throat. Had a bad cough and raised blood. I had become discouraged when my husband brought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and persuaded me to try it. I advise all to take it. It has cured and built me up. Mrs. H. W. Roberts, West Lacombe, N. S.

Cures catarrh—is soothing and strengthens the mucous membrane and builds up the whole system. upward and saw hanging on the wall a picture of the "Mater Dolorosa,"—a sad, sweet face which appeals to everyone for the deep intensity of resigned sorrow, and yet which more strongly makes an appeal to Catholic hearts; for it suggests the foot of the cross and the great part played by the Second Eve in the redemption of mankind. "I thought of Bethlehem and the Shepherds, and saw the young Mother with adoring love bending over the crib where her Child—our God—lay asleep. I saw the Wise Men coming with their presents of gold, frankincense and myrrh; and saw them fall down and adore the Child whom Mary presented to them; and I saw that Mary's knee was Jesus' throne when first the homage was paid Him which was His due. I heard the Wise Men tell the Mother of their journey and its difficulties, and how all was forgotten when they gazed on the blessed face of Jesus. I heard them tell her this and more, that, treasuring it up in her heart, she might in after days, when the child was grown, repeat the story. And I could not but think that, after our painful journey through the desert of this life, we should forget all the perils passed when Mary would show us the blessed face of Jesus. "I saw her again at Cana, when Jesus changed the water into wine to please His Mother and spare embarrassment to His hosts; and I could not doubt that at her prayer He would turn our cold and careless hearts into warm and loving ones. Then back to the cross I came once more, and saw her standing there—

Had Fainting Spells.

TOOK AWFUL FALLS. Miss Eva P. Yostman, Krugersdorf, Ont., writes:—"I feel that I must write and tell you of the great benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. About three and a half years ago I was taken terribly ill with my heart, nerves and fainting spells, and was down in bed for about six months. I doctored with two different doctors and seemed to get better although the fainting spells would not leave me. I would take such terrible falls wherever I was that it was not safe to leave me alone at any time. At last I decided to resort to proprietary medicine and took several different kinds, but seemed to receive but little benefit from any of them. One day noticing the advertisement of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, I decided to try them and before I had taken more than two boxes I could see they were helping me. I have taken about ten boxes and am almost cured of those terrible spells. I sincerely feel that your medicine has proved a blessing to me, and I would advise anyone troubled with their heart to try it as I am confident they will find relief. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

eldest boy was taken sick with scarlet fever. The doctor and my wife were unremitting in their attention, but the child grew steadily worse. One evening the doctor told us there was no hope for the boy, and that he could not pass the night. I went to the bedside, and, carefully wrapping the little fellow, I placed him in my lap and laid his head on my shoulder, determined that God should literally take him from my arms. "As I sat there, with the tears streaming down my face, I chanced to look at the picture of the Mater Dolorosa, and the sermon came back to me in a flash. I gazed upon her, and I prayed as I never prayed before that she would pity my grief. I reminded her, as I sat there with my little boy's head resting on my shoulder, of how she bore her Son in her arms that night in the far past, when at Jacobs word she went through Bethlehem's trees on her way to Egypt. I bade her remember how she must have feared lest, perchance, some news of Herod's orders had reached the city and guards were already at the gates. I recalled in my great sorrow the anxious moments that she passed, even when Bethlehem was far behind, for fear of pursuit; and I begged the mother of Jesus to pity me and give me back my child. "The night passed, and the dawn found me with my boy sleeping in my arms; and when the doctor came he told me that a change had taken place during the night and my boy would recover. I know I am going to disappoint many when I add that the man who related the foregoing story is yet a Protestant minister. He recently told me that one of his troubles was that he dared not tell the people all that he believed.

Hickey & Nicholson, Ltd CHARLOTTETOWN Canadian National Railways -- OPERATING ONE HOUR EARLIER Important Daylight Saving Change of Time at 2 a.m. Sunday, March 30, 1919

All clocks and watches used in operation of Canadian National Railway will at 2 a.m. Sunday, March 30th, be advanced one hour. To prevent serious confusion and inconvenience to the public the attention of all concerned is directed to the following conditions resulting from the important change of time: If cities, towns, villages and other municipal bodies do not change their local time to correspond with the new Railway time, all concerned should keep in mind that while trains continue to leave Railway Stations on present schedule, such schedule will be operated one hour ahead of present local time. Therefore any municipality where local time is not changed to correspond with the new Railway time, passengers must reach Railway Station ONE HOUR EARLIER than shown in current folders and public time posters. Where municipal time is changed to correspond with the new Railway time, passengers will not experience difficulty growing out of the change. April 27, 1919

Announcement

For the information of our many patrons, in both town and country, we deem it necessary to announce that the Coal Business, successfully carried on in the past by the late Mr. Charles Lyons, will be continued by the Estate, under the old firm name of C. Lyons & Co. By maintaining a high standard of service and by courteous and honest treatment of the public, this firm has, for a period of more than a quarter of a century, enjoyed a large and ever-increasing patronage; and in announcing our intention of "carrying on," we desire, most earnestly, to give expression to our appreciation thereof. We are deeply grateful to the firm's many patrons for their constant manifestation of confidence in it in the past, and we assure them that if they favor us with a similar evidence of their good-will in future there shall be no economy of effort on our part to make our intercourse both pleasant and profitable to them. As we possess almost unlimited facilities for supplying the coal trade, and as we are desirous of extending our already large business, we respectfully invite the patronage of new customers; and if we succeed in thus increasing our present connection, we guarantee that we shall be indefatigable in our endeavor to justify the confidence of our new friends. We again thank our patrons for their past generous patronage, and respectfully solicit a renewal of their esteemed custom.
