Joffrey's Itinerary.

EXTENDED TRIP FOR FRENCH MARSHAL.

Marselles, (Associated Press).—Marshal Joffrey who left Marselles on Armistice Day to visit Japan, will also make an extended tour of the countries bordering the Pacific Ocean, including Indo-China, Siam and China. He has been entrusted by the French Government with the task of carrying to the chiefs of the governments of the Far Eastern states that participated in the victory of the Allies, the salute and gratefulness of France. The Marshal's first call was to be at Port Said, where an official reception was planned. At Singapore, he will board the cruiser Montcalm, flagship of the French Far East squadron. At Saigon, the Marshal will visit the French possession of Indo-China for a few days as the guest of the Governor General of the colony. He will arrive at Bangkok about Dec. 20 and be received by the King of Siam which country was one of the Allied powers during the war. After visiting the states of Cambodia and Tonkin, Joffrey, on the Montcalm accompanied by several destroyers, will proceed directly to Yokohama where he expects to arrive about Jan. 25. His sojourn in Japan will last about a month after which he will visit Peking, travelling by way of Seoul and Mukden. The present plans for his return trip are for the Marshal to reach France by way of Honolulu, San Francisco and New York.

Mr. McKenzie's Remarkable Statement.

Mr. Reginald McKenzie, chairman of the London Joint City and Midland Bank, and former Chancellor of the Exchequer, in a speech at the Chicago Commercial Club, declared Germany's payment of reparations to Great Britain and the repayment by the Allies of their war loans to Great Britain might "prove rather a curse than a blessing."

"We lose more in our country," said Mr. McKenzie, "by the existence of two million unemployed than we shall ever get in value from German reparations over a period of thirty years."

"I would rather see our people employed producing wealth than receiving a dribbling of wealth from Germany at the cost of being unemployed, and what we say of ourselves is true in a lesser degree of the United States."

"When we see these things we really begin to doubt whether it is for the benefit of the United Kingdom that reparations should be paid and whether the debts of the Allies to us, if paid, might not prove rather a curse than a blessing."

Students Dismissed.

FOR TAKING-OFF OFFICIALS.
Buenos Aires.—A number of students in the National College at Juny, who, while studying, also held government positions, for which they drew pay, have been dismissed from the government service for bartering government officials in an amateur theatrical performance which they gave at the college. They were charged with having portrayed the government officials "in a manner not consistent with the majesty of their office."

Knew Him Well.

The Bishop of Mauritius tells a good story of a visit he once paid to a small township in Australia. As he was driving to the local church with the wife of his host, the lady asked him what his proper title was. "I really don't know what I ought to call you," she said, "should I address you as my lord, or bishop, or what?"

The bishop, who is noted for his keen sense of humor, replied jokingly, "Well, madam, some people call me a fool."

"Oh," said the lady quite seriously, "but surely they must know you very well!"

Rum Running Supersedes Fishing.

GREAT LIQUOR TRADE FROM GERMANY TO SWEDEN.

Stockholm, (Associated Press).—Rum-running into Sweden from Germany has developed into something like a public scandal, says Swedish newspapers. The broken nature of the coast line and the thousands of small islands dotting the sea approach as are all in favor of smuggling enterprise. The crafts engaged in this trade are generally small, fast-sailing schooners, captained as a rule by ex-officers of the imperial German navy. Many of the skippers bear names well known in the records of submarine activity. Their daring and experience makes it very difficult for Swedish coastguards to stop them. From Reval, Rostock, Stettin, Lubeck and other German ports these vessels put to sea, their cargo always consigned, according to the ship's papers, to some Finnish name. The cargo is landed on the coast of eastern Sweden, the cargo is landed piecemeal after night-fall on the rocks, from which it is later removed by accomplices ashore who have a widely ramified organization for the island distribution of the goods.

ENORMOUS TRAFFIC.

This illicit traffic is said by Swedish papers to be enormous. The papers are full of stirring stories about smugglers and their doings. They remain outside the territorial waters, cruising about until their friends seize their chance to rush out in fast motor boats, often in a heavy gale, tranship the liquor and disappear in the dangerous labyrinth of the archipelago. Lately the police have started a scheme to beat the rum-runners at their own game. The other day a police boat, camouflaged as a smuggling craft, boarded a German schooner and loaded up to the gunwales from the schooner's hold, unconscious of the fact that the schooner was just outside the territorial limit. When the policemen tried to leave the schooner without paying, the smugglers threatened to throw them overboard and there was nothing for them but to pay for the liquor. In another case, the correspondent was told, a gale blew up soon after the coast guards had boarded a ship which happened to be within the three mile limit, and, owing to the dangerous coast, the ship had to put out to sea, taking the Swedish guards away to Germany. In Sweden and in Finland many of the coast population get their living by smuggling and refuse to go fishing and carry on their legitimate trades in Finland, where total prohibition prevails, conditions are even worse than in Sweden. Fishing there has entirely ceased, it is said, because rum-running is far more profitable business.

M. J. O'Brien

A subject of special interest to those who drive motors, as well as pedestrians, is the "plank" for to-night, for many at the cost of being unemployed, and what we say of ourselves is true in a lesser degree of the United States. "When we see these things we really begin to doubt whether it is for the benefit of the United Kingdom that reparations should be paid and whether the debts of the Allies to us, if paid, might not prove rather a curse than a blessing."

MICHAEL J. O'BRIEN.

If Michael has been unknown to fame or has been hiding his light under a bushel in years gone by such is not the case since this campaign was opened, for he trusts the citizens daily to most versatile and interesting views of what could, would or should be done in matters Municipal provided the council be disposed to number amongst our City Fathers. The most critical of civic voters cannot fail to find something of interest in Michael's multifarious pronouncements, from swings and open air rinks in the parks, to street car extensions to the remotest outskirts of the city. He has a keen mind and appears to be a great student of affairs in that his state are affairs and not political and must assuredly win him a large measure of support. As a retired mechanic he would have ample leisure to look after civic interests and as president of the new annex to the city he would be specially interested in looking out for its welfare.

O'Brien deeply appreciates the Comic Weekly's corroboration of his opinion on civic affairs and assures them if he is on the winning ticket he shall do his best to introduce those measures. He concludes this subject by asking all those who want to help themselves to kindly strike on the ballot paper ONE VOTE FOR O'BRIEN.

Fads and Fashions.

A youthful evening wrap of silk velvet uses clusters of velvet roses to form its collar.

Heavy gold lace is used in combination with chiffon ororgette crepe for evening.

Heavy lace makes the gauntlet cuff over a closely buttoned sleeve of crepe marocain.

The uneven hem-line is cleverly achieved by draping the skirt in the middle of the front.

A coat dress of black broadcloth is braided at the sides to accent the semi-circular flare of the skirt.

A gown of mauve satin trimmed with matching fringe, has a cape of carise velvet and chinchilla.

For the hair are flowers in garlands, and the same flowers are repeated in sprays over the skirt.

A gown of black charmeuse is belted with gold lace and has a train of charmeuse and lace hanging from one shoulder.
