Thomas Williamson, who is wanted in Canada for forgery, and who has been arrested several times and released on various legal quibbles, has been located at Reno, Nevada. Chief Rogers, of the Canadian secret police, has gone there to arrest him. Several years ago, while preaching at Elmira, Williamson also acted as cashier of the only bank in the place. He speculated, lost the money of the depositors, and finally, accumulating about $103,000 by forgery, he fled to the United States in October, 1890. He was traced and arrested near Virginia City, Nev., but crawied out through a hole in the extradition papers and got away. Other arrests in California and Nevada proved quite as unsuccessful. Once, when a sheriff captured the spiritual financier at a ranch in Nevada, the prisoner excused himself to change his clother, jumped out of a window and took to the woods. Detective Rogers carries extradition papers with him, and hopes to get Williamson across the line into Canada.
