Middlesex Assizes.

The case of the City of London against the London Street Railway Company was called this afternoon after court resumed. The city claims that the street railway company has no right to extend their tracks east and west along Dundas street to the city limits, and also along Rectory street. The company claims the right, and the suit is to settle the dispute. Case going on. Wanted-More Money. Middlesex Assizes.

The company claims the right, and the suit is to settle the dispute. Case going on.
Wanted-More Money.

Absolutely necessary work to be done and "no funds" with which to do it, are circumstances that have placed No. 2 committee of the City Council in an unpleasant dilemma of lare. At a meeting last night it was decided to ask the City Council for $3,000 additional in order to tide over the exigencies of the present year. There are sidewalks to be laid, reads to be put in shape and contracts to be let, be aides numerous incidentals. The petition for the sewer on Oxford street, between Richmond and Wellington, requires four more names before its prayer can be granted. The long-delayed Emery street drain will be advertised. The Guelich Stone Walk Company asked that the 25 per cent. of their contract price witheld be handed over to them, as their work was satisfactory. The request was granted on all but the Dundas street walk, between Waterloo and Colborne streets. The engineer will decide as to the payment on this. Add. Bartlett (chairman), Shaw, Jones, O'Meara, Garratt and City Engineer Graydon were present.

Representatives to the annual conferences: Niagara conference, Mrs. Phelps; London conference, Mrs. Burns; Guelph conference, Mrs. McMechan. The final session was held last (Thursday) night. The report of the corresponding secretary of the session circle and a programme of music, etc., brought the meeting to a close. The present convention has been one of the best in the history of the society. the society.

TENNYSON.

The Chronicle Thinks Swinburne the Only Possible Poet Laureate.

Sir Edwin Arnold's Touching Tribute to the Deceased Poet.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The canon of West-minster Abbey has formally invited Hallam Tennyson to bury his father in West-minster Abbey.

Hallam Tenny is now so ill as to be confined to his sol.

A friend of the bereaved family states that yesterday afternoon during a wakeful moment Lord Tennyson asked for a copy of Shakespeare, and with his own hands turned the leaves until he found the direction of the pages but he did not speak, and whether he read the lines or not is not known. Soon he again passed into slumber, and his left hand rested on the open book until he passed away.

and his left hand rested on the open book until he passed away.

The body of Lord Tennyson lies on the bed in which he died. He looks fifteen years younger than before death, the lines and wrinkles of the face being less apparent. The beard, which was unkept in life, has been carefully trimmed, the hands are folded over the chest, a laurel wreath crowns the head and another lies at his feet. The coverlet over the body is almost hidden beneath the flowers which have been placed upon it. Burning wax tapers lend a subdued light to the chamber. The Bishop of Winchester will preach the funeral sermon in Hasiemere Church on Sunday.

Swinburne is the only possible poet laureate.

The morning newspapers are unanimously in favor of Lord Tennyson's burial in Westminster Abbey.

The following poem is from the pen of Sir Edwin Arnold:
No moaning of the ber-sail forth strong ship Inte that gloom which has God's face for a far light;
Not a direc, but a proud farewell from each fond lip,
And praise, abounding praise, and fame's faint starlight
Lamping thy tuneful soul to that large noon.

Miss Phobe Armstrong has returned this week from London, where she has, for the past four months, been studying shorthand and typewriting in the Forest City Business College. Miss Armstrong speaks very highly of the teaching and practice in that institution. She says she had the opportunity of attending a school that promised her a situation upon graduating. promised her a situation upon graduating, but took in preference one that did thor-ough teaching and run chauces of a position. —[Guide-Advocate, Watford, bd bw
