The Valetta Court Martial.

VALETTA, July 18.—In the court martial which is trying the officers of the battle-ship Victoria, Capt. Bourke resumed his testimony to-day. He sand that he became aware of a collision almost directly the Victoria began to turn. He did not think that Staff-Commander Hawkins-Smith had ever been consulted by Vice-Admiral Tryon in regard to maneuvers; indeed nobody had been consulted. When Vice-Admiral Tryon hoisted his flag on the Victoria it was customary to use a 30 degrees helm. Vice-Admiral Tryon altered this to 28 degrees. Lord Gillford, flag lieutenant of the Mediterranean requadron, testified that after the collision Vice-Admiral Tryon said to him: "It was all my fault." Staff-Commander Hawkins-Smith also gave evidence showing that Vice-Admiral Tryon took upon himself the responsibility for the disaster. The staff commander said that immediately after the Camperdown rammed the Victoria the vice-admiral said to him: "It was entirely my doing. It was entirely my fault."

When asked to explain how it was that the signal for "six cables" was flying after the vice-admiral had virtually assented to eight cables, Capt. Bourke replied that it was after Staff-Commander Hawkins-Smith had left the cabin that the vice-admiral summoned Flag-Lieut. Gillford and ordered to signal "six cables." This order, Capt. Bourke believed, was a written one. About 30 seconds clapsed between Capt. Bourke's last appeal and the reversal of the port screw by the vice-admiral's order.

New York, July 18.—The heaviness of the stock market this morning was due to a rumor from London that a leading international house, with branches in New York, Boston and Montreal, was in trouble. It was said that Baron Hirech had carried the firm over the last settlement. A canwas of the foreign banking houses here shows that there is no truth in the story. So far as can be learned not a single firm of any consequence is in trouble. Another thing which added to the uneasiness was the rumored embarrassment of certain railway companies. Receiverships were talked of for half a dozen different roads, at the Union Pacific and Eric being most frequently mentioned. Of course the reports are denied in official circles, but the denials did not kill the rumors. Philadelphia took in the rumor-mongering business to-day, a report being sent over from that city that a broker's bank there was in trouble. There was nothing in the story, which was evidently started for speculative effect.
