C. Becher, broker, Bank of Commerce building, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington today:
New York, Nov. 19-Noon.—The undermarket, rather than the superficial indications, show there is nothing in the day's dealings to warrant any pronounced kick against the trend of the market. The tone has been good, and there has been an evident development of resisting power not at all to the liking of those operating for a further fall in prices. The market has not been very active, while at a glance it might seem as if trading was fairly professional, and there is in evidence certain buying that cannot be called professional. It may be significant that the men who have kept their fingers on the pulse of the market, or in a more general sense, on the pulse of the country, have to subscribe to the theory that better ment in the stock market is impending The stocks acted well today, and Steel preferred, showed a good resistance to a drive against it. Sugar eased off on ruof delay in putting through the treaty. The Steel bonds were well taken and acted well. Grangers were the letter, which has been received by City Clerk Edwards from the underwriters, that the move of Ald. Matthews may yet prove of some benefit to the citizens at large, though it may cost the city a heap of money to secure the benefits, It has been said by most people in ondon, that no matter what the city might do, the rates were raised for all time, the underwriters merely raising rates in London in conjunction with a general increase all over the province. From the letter which has been received by the city clerk, how-ever, this conclusion is proven to be all wrong, and the underwriters prepared on certain conditions to re duce the rates.

THE SUGGESTIONS.

In the interesting letter the secretary of the underwriters lays down certain conditions, upon compliance with which the city may save 15 cents on the key rate, which is now 60 cents, this meaning a saving of 25 per cent to the insuring public. The 15 cents on the key rate may be saved as follows: If the city:

1. Pass a bylaw governing storage of inflammables. For this a reduction of 2 cents from the key rate. 2. Provide another steam fire egine. For this the reduction is cents.

3. Purchase 2.500 feet more hose For this a reduction of 3 cents, 4. Equip the aerial truck with men and horses. Reduction offered, 2 cents 5. Increase brigade to 30 men. duction offered is 5 cents. The letter further says that if the city is not prepared to carry out all the above suggestions, the underwriters are willing to allow reductions on the key rate for such regulations as are rate, the expenditure which the suggestions entail is no small amount. To comply with the first regulations—re that of inflammables—will cost nothing, and in Chief Roe's opinion the pasisng of the bylaw asked would be a good thing for the community. To comply with the second clause, however, is a horse of another color, as a for the first year, with a yearly in-crease up to $600. Thus the engine, the horses and the men would cost the city the first year about $6,650. Then the third clause asks the city

The fifth clause, regarding the in crease of firemen to 30 men, means only the addition of one man, as when the eight men who were recently approinted begin duty there will be, including the chief, 29 men on the firemen's list. Chief Roe is emphatic in his statements, that even with the men recently appointed, it would be impossible to man the aerial truck, and another ngine, and the statements made as to more men and horses are given on the chief's authority, and the concensus of opinion is that the chief knows more

Of course, there are several points wherein the city may profit by adopting the suggestions of the underwriters but whether, after the tremendous expenditure of the past year on hospital maintenance, with a deficit facing the school board, and a deficit facing the council themselves, the council will agree to further fire hall expenditure, s a matter for conjecture. Summarized, the cost to the city the first year would be as follows were the

According to Dr. Hutchinson's figuring of the outbreak, there was only one case to every 1,000 inhabitants when all the big fuss was made about additional isolation accommodation, and > about securing which nothing at all has been done. The reports about the spread of diphtheria and scarlet fever in London dur-ing the recent troubles, as sent out from Toronto, are not calculated to do the city any good. Speaking of Toron-to's excellent health showing, the To-

"An even more satisfactory report has been received from Guelph, where for years it has been the custom to receive almost all diphtheria cases in the hospital. Here 9 cases were reported without a single death On the other hand, in London, where there is no contagious disease hospital, 94 cases were reported in a single month. A number of fatal cases occurred in January and February, after which the cases increased in number and viru-lence, viz.: June 23 cases and 1 death; July, 35 and 2; August, 18 and 4; September, 39 and 4: October, 94 and 8. It is said, too, that London's isolation hospital accommodation is greater in proportion than the isolation hospicommodation in other places, and that this has not been the cause of the spread of the disease in London. In fact, it is said that contagious diseases are much more conscientiously reported to the provincial authorities from London than from many other places, and this fact may account for Was Unable To Be the big list of cases in London, as compared with other places.
