FOREST FIRES CAUSE ALARM

Heavy Damage Reported in District West of Capreol.

CAPREOL, Ont., May 10.—Forest fires to the east, south and west of Capreol have become threatening in some sections. The fires have been going for four days and are said to extend as far as Foyell, 150 miles west of here. On Saturday it was necessary to call out the fire department to save buildings close to the Canadian National Railway shops. This afternoon the Marshay Lumber Company's yard at Laforest, 30 miles west of Capreol, was destroyed. The Capreol fire department went to the scene in response to a call for help.

A large bush fire is raging at Milnet, nine miles west of this place, and it is becoming alarming, as there is danger of the fire getting into the dry timber nearby. A thick pall of smoke is over this section of Ontario. A heavy rain in the one thing desired now.

NEARLY CRAZY WITH ECZEMA

No rest day or night for those who are afflicted with that terrible skin disease, eczema, or as it is often called, salt rheum.

With its unbearable burning, itching and torturing relief is gladly welcomed. There is no remedy like Burdock Blood Bitters for giving relief to such sufferers; no remedy that has done, or can do more for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture.

Apply it externally and it takes out the stinging, itching and burning, and promotes a healthy healing.

Take it internally and it gets at the source of the disease in the blood—for eczema is a blood disease—and drives it out of the system.

Miss L. M. Boutiller, 89 Victoria Road, Halifax, N. S., writes: "I have suffered for years from eczema. I could not rest day or night. I suffered great agony, and was nearly crazy with the itching and burning. I used all kinds of salves, but nothing seemed to help me. I saw Burdock Blood Bitters advertised, and was advised to try a bottle. I found great relief, and I really cannot recommend it highly enough for what it has done for me."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for over forty years, and during that time has been manufactured only by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

STORM REVEALS PIRATES' CACHE

Mexican Treasure Buried On Coney Island After Crew Killed Captain.

New York, May 10.—If you were to see flashed on the silver screen the caption, "The Bold Pirates of Coney Island," and the picture proved to be a blood-curdling thriller with all the trimmings of the days of Captain Kidd and Jean Lafitte, the chances are you would call it a piece of fiction—only that it is nothing more.

Or perhaps you might remark: "Well, the only pirates I ever heard about at Coney gathered in dime, and not dubious, in the musty archives of historical societies, in court documents and old newspaper files is recorded a tale of piracy at Coney Island that is as true as the movie thriller. And it's all true. Draw up your chairs and hearken to the story as unfolded by these authoritative sources:

It was November 2, 1890, that the "Windsor" left New Orleans for Philadelphia with a cargo of molasses, sugar and cotton and $54,000 in Mexican dollars consigned to Stephen Gibbard. The officers and the crew of the brig were William Thornby, captain; Roberts, mate; Charles Gibbs, Aaron Church, Joseph Talbot, John Brownrigg and Henry Atwell, seamen; Robert Daves, cabin boy, and Wansley, steward and cook. Five days out at sea the steward informed some of the crew of the specie on board. The ship was then off Cape Hatteras, where William Thornby, Gibbs, Atwell and Daves plotted to kill the captain and seize the money in the cargo.

Survivors John Plot.

On the night of March 23, as the captain was on the quarterdeck and Daves was steering, Wansley came up on deck, and at a signal from Daves struck the captain from behind with a pump handle. The pirates then went below and looted the cargo of molasses and sugar, and then they went to the money.

Roberts dashed up the companionway to learn the cause of the commotion, and was attacked by Church and Atwell. Wounded, he retreated to the cabin, where he was followed by Gibbs. One of the men then returned to the deck and hid the money in a hiding place with which he was familiar.

Talbot, terrified by the murder of the captain and mate, sought refuge for a while in the foremast, and then he fled aloft, where he was called by the conspirators to join them, offering them their lives and an equal share in the loot. The pirates then fled the ship, and the ship was left to drift. The pirates then fled the ship, and the ship was left to drift.

Small Boat Lost.

Gibbs, Wansley, Daves and Brownrigg, with about $31,000 of the money, set out in the longboat, and Church, Atwell and Talbot, with about $23,000, in the jollyboat. The wind was blowing from the north, and the ship was drifting.

JEW WINS HIS FIGHT TO HELP PALESTINE

Youth Twice Imprisoned by Turks Before Regaining His Home.

JERUSALEM, May 10.—In the upbuilding of Palestine under the British mandate as a homeland for the Jewish people much interest is displayed in the type of young man that is helping to make the country a land once again to be called "home" and "honey." The record of Ehud Ben-Yehudah is characteristic of those of the young Palestinians who are now giving of their best energies and talents in regenerating the land under the security of a stable government.

A native of Palestine, son of a famous Hebrew, Ehud Ben-Yehudah, whose fearless nationalism on behalf of the Jewish homeland caused him to be imprisoned under the Turkish regime, young Ben-Yehudah was studying agriculture in Germany when the war broke out. In 1915 his father was compelled to flee to America with the rest of his family, and for several years in the Semitic department of the New York public library, where he became known for his work on the lexicon of the Hebrew language.

When in 1917 young Ben-Yehudah learned that he would be liable for service in the Turkish army, he enlisted in the German army in the hope that he would be captured by the British. He was sent to the front in Belgium and France. After several months without succeeding in being captured Ben-Yehudah announced that he was a Jew and was a Zionist. He was sent back to fight with his so-called compatriots, hoping meanwhile that he might fall into the hands of the British, who were advancing into Mesopotamia.

On his way to Constantinople he managed to miss his train at Belgrade, and after observing for three days the plight of the oppressed Serbians, similar to that of the Jewish people in Palestine, he was captured by the military police. He was released, however, by posing as a German and assuming the name of Jordan. His knowledge of German, French, English, Turkish, Arabic and Hebrew gained for him the position of interpreter and confidential clerk attached to Turkish headquarters.

Ben-Yehudah's fluency in German and Turkish enabled him to take a tale of Jewish persecution in Palestine, and he was able to transmit to his Jewish friends who were acting as British spies.

Through the aid of Gen. von Falkenberg, on whose staff he was attached, however, he was made station master at Amman, a few miles across the Jordan from Jericho. He was thrown into prison on the charge of having smuggled 700 rifles into Palestine. But he was able to escape from the prison, and he was able to transmit to his Jewish friends who were acting as British spies.

At last the British came. With a bayonet against his breast, he tried to make known his identity. "You're a bloody Circassian," insisted the English Tommy. "I am not," he answered. "I'm a Palestinian and a Jew. Take me to headquarters and you can find out all about me." Headquarters telephoned to Rischnon-le-Zion, the nearest Jewish colony, where everybody knew of the Ben-Yehudah family. He was freed, and because of his linguistic ability got an interpreter's post and accompanied the Amnans and the Jewish Battalion as far as Amnans.

Ben-Yehudah is now an agriculturist, serving the government as sub-inspector of Palestine in the entire southern district of Palestine, riding from farm to farm, giving advice as to the breeding of cattle, teaching the Jewish farmers how to get more crops each year, and assisting the veterinary surgeons.

His ideas as to the needs and future of the new Palestine are definite. He said: "What we want is a sound economic basis for the homeland. We are done with having the Holy Land a place populated by unintelligent charity. The land is rich, the country can be made productive of great things; what is needed is investment on a large scale that, without doubt, will yield splendid returns."

"Specialists in various fields and skilled workers are constantly coming here, and we need even more of this type of immigration. With the finances to back the high type of labor that we have here the future is very bright for a new Palestine."

DISTRESS EXISTS AMONG CANADIAN VETERANS OVERSEAS

Conditions Are Outlined Before Special Parliamentary Committee.

OTTAWA, May 10.—Canadian Press.—The deplorable distress existing among discharged Canadian soldiers in the United Kingdom was emphasized before the special parliamentary committee on soldiers' re-establishment this morning by J. T. Donovan, Toronto, president of the United Kingdom branch of the G. W. V. A.

Mr. Donovan said that there were between 16,000 and 20,000 of these men and that they were compelled to beg for food. The Canadian high commissioner in London was doing everything in his power to alleviate the suffering, and was supplying clothing to those so destitute as to be unable to secure raiment of any kind. This relief was being supplied out of canteen funds. These men, however, were not suffering from starvation. No decent Canadian need go hungry in England, Mr. Donovan said.

On behalf of these men, Mr. Donovan urged a comprehensive scheme of repatriation. While unemployment existed in Canada, he said, no Canadian should be in England, where ex-imperial service men had resorted to playing "barrel organs on the streets" in order to buy food. It was desirable to rescue Canadians from such a fate.

GALT ALDERMEN TO BE REMUNERATED

Will Be Allowed $5 For Each Meeting They Attend.

GALT, May 10.—Taking advantage of legislation passed by the Provincial Legislature, the city fathers have decided that they should receive some remuneration for the service they render citizens as representatives and for the time they are required to take from their regular employment, and accordingly have fixed a fee for attendance at meetings at $5 a day, as allowed by the act. Payments for a year must not exceed a total of $250. There is little doubt but that every alderman will draw $250, as they have more than 50 meetings in a year, with 26 regular council meetings, besides the special and committee meetings.

This city from expensiveness has learned that it is more profitable to lay permanent pavements than macadam, as the annual expenditure for maintenance is paid. While considerable paving has been done in the past few years, the present council has become noted as a good roads council, and in addition to the work now under way on Water street north, it is proposed to continue the pavement on Water street south to the city limits, and also a section of concession streets, linking up with Ainslie street pavement.

MRS. DAVID MARSHALL BURIED AT AYLMEY.

AYLMEY, May 10.—The funeral of Mrs. Eleanor A. Marshall, wife of the late David Marshall, M.P., held this afternoon at Aylmer Cemetery, was conducted privately.

Mrs. Marshall had been a septuagenarian for many years, but had been confined to her bed for about five weeks from an attack of la grippe and bronchitis that terminated fatally at 2:30 on Sunday morning.

She was born in Malahide November 20, 1848, and had lived her entire life in Malahide and Aylmer. She received her education in the Aylmer schools, and for some eight years was a teacher at Orwell and other schools in the township. She was united in marriage to the late David Marshall in 1873, and is survived by one daughter, Mrs. John G. Dewar of Guelph.

Before her illness, which began many years ago, Mrs. Marshall was an active member of society, and had been justly credited with having been of material assistance to her late husband in his long and successful business career.

About fifteen months ago the late Mrs. Marshall died suddenly while on a business trip to "British Columbia," and the shock to Mrs. Marshall was severe and possibly accentuated her late severe illness.

SARNIA INDORSES BRANTFORD ACTION

Will Ask Government To Make Fee For Carnivals Prohibitive.

SARNIA, May 10.—With very little discussion, except the expression of general opinion that they are undesirable, the council today indorsed the following resolution respecting traveling carnivals, as drafted by the Brantford Chamber of Commerce, for submission to the Provincial Government. The motion to indorse was proposed by Ald. Cox and seconded by Ald. Dagan.

"Believing that everything possible should be done to discourage weekly shows of the traveling carnival type from coming into Ontario because of the undesirable influence of their questionable attractions, the Brantford Chamber of Commerce respectfully and earnestly requests that the Hon. E. C. Drury, premier of Ontario; the Hon. W. E. Ramey, K.C., attorney-general; the Hon. Peter Smith, provincial treasurer, and J. E. Rogers, Esq., superintendent of provincial police, institute the necessary action to place immediately a prohibitive fee upon carnivals companies entering the province, and thereby replace the inadequate fee of $100 per day to the province from carnival companies having under twenty cars."

Rate Depends on Type of Service

The "Station-to-Station" rate for long distance calls applies when the calling party does not ask to talk to a particular person, but merely to anyone who answers the distant telephone.

This type of service is furnished at a lower rate because it requires less work by long distance operators and less circuit time than when a particular person must be reached.

"Station-to-Station" calls must be made either by giving the telephone number wanted or the name or address under which that telephone is listed. If the calling party states he wishes to talk to a particular person, the "Person-to-Person" rate, which is about one-fourth higher, is charged.

Ask us about anything concerning these rates that is not clear to you.
