

GRANBY, QUE.—Have good news for you; in fact, the best of news, for what is better than seeing and hearing of precious souls coming to Christ? Last night the inquiry room was filled, and most of them found peace in trusting Christ. Have not the least idea how many have found the Saviour, but some have sought Him every night. Last Sunday the church was crowded. We close here to-night, Jan. 21, and go to Lawrenceville. Do not know how brother Stacey is, as we are completely snowed in. Have had no mail for three or four days. Remember me to comrades. Who have you with you?

GROVESEND, ONT.—I can truly say that the Lord is blessing us here. Last night was one of great power. It is long since I have seen such a stir in a meeting. Fathers, mothers, young men, young women and children weeping all over the church, and the altar was thronged with seekers. The Lord is shaking this place and sinners are coming home. I have just made a few calls this morning. At one place I found the mother of five children anxious about her soul. I talked to her, read and prayed with her, and she prayed, and, praise the Lord, He saved her. To God be all the glory.

ENCOURAGEMENT.—A Band-worker writes: For a few days I felt very much depressed and downcast. The devil tried to make me believe that the Lord had no use for me and did not want me in His work. Just then a man dropped in to say that he was about leaving the place, and wanted to tell me before he went away that the Lord had blessed him through the singing of one of our pieces. He had been a backslider. He has gone to the lumber woods. He had some twenty men in his charge, and he says he will tell them of Jesus. All glory to God. It did cheer me very much. I do believe the Lord knows just when to encourage us. Oh to be a clean vessel, so He can use me. And may I be kept humble, for what glory has the instrument?

SECRET OF POWER.—A Band leader writes: I would not be doing right not to tell you how wondrously God has been blessing me in my own soul. The past three months have been the most blessed of my life. Oh, the power of God! I am filled with yearning for precious souls. Praise God forever and ever. Amen.

Reached Inkerman on Saturday, 5th inst. Quarterly meeting on Sabbath morning. A very powerful time indeed. A large number of both young and old entered into a solemn covenant to seek the higher life, and to work for Jesus. Some wept and prayed, while others shouted for joy. Came on here for night. House so crowded that I wilted under the heat and oppression. But a solemn feeling pervaded the congregation. This is going to be a hard spot to work. Several meetings have been held unsuccessfully and the people are hardened in sin. But the Lord is my hope and stay. Monday had two good meetings, but no move from the outside. Yesterday it rained all day. Still the people turned out. Last night there was great power in the church, and two young girls came forward who professed to get saved, while many young men were much impressed. We are writing, praying, and believing for a mighty outpouring of the Spirit here.

MAITLAND.—I do not know what to say with reference to the coming of Bro. Mahood and his helper on the 23rd ult. The church at which I purposed to commence the meetings is five miles distant from this place, north. At present the road leading to that place is utterly impassable. No mail has reached us from that point since Thursday of last week. Yesterday I was compelled to attend a funeral in that direction. I had to go on snow-shoes; there was no other way of reaching the place. Should the present weather continue, the meetings must prove a failure. The congregation at said church is exclusively a country one. Should the roads continue as they are, the people will not be able to reach the church. What is best to be done? Would it be better to defer the coming of these brethren for a little, in hopes that the roads will improve? I leave it with you, and may God the Holy Ghost guide you aright. Amen.

COMPTON.—Received your letter last week. Glad to hear that you were having good work in Gananoque. God bless you, and give you power. Charlie is well. Mr. Porter sends love. Young people as well as usual. I am working in Mr. Craig's store, with Willie. I read a chapter from God's Word every night, and then we go to God
