

demonstrated it can deal flexibly with the differing needs of LDCs in the rescheduling of debt to official creditors. Canada also believes that existing international institutions continue to provide the best framework for dealing with the debt problems and should be strengthened as necessary.