

Mr. Fox noted that Belgium has been for a long time one of the most important commercial partners of Canada and that two way trade reached one billion dollars in 1983.

The Minister said: "I am pleased to see that once again the private sector by its dynamism has demonstrated leadership in spurring economic growth, a principal element of our bilateral relations with Belgium".