

The pure and sinning quality of the tone, and the admirable evenness and elasticity of the action are such as to reflect the most credit upon your house and upon Canadian skill and enterprise. —A. S. Vogt.

TRADE MARK

The New Scale Grand Piano of Heintzman & Co. has my hearty approval, and I have no doubt but that it is the most musical quality even in the most famous piano. —Dr. Edward Fisher.

No Canadian-made Piano has been endorsed by the World's Great Artists as has the

HEINTZMAN & CO. PIANO

This is a very plain statement, but one that is not in any way open to contradiction.

The tone standards of this Piano, its remarkable singing quality—its complete—really in every detail of construction, make it a piano that is not, or can it be, copied or imitated.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

It has come to our attention that one E. E. Batty, in the employ of Will H. Newsome, Limited, has been securing, by misrepresentations of various kinds, orders intended for our firm. (In many cases claiming to represent us).

We have proofs of such practices from dozens of our patrons, and although the law will, in due time, make their continuation unlikely, we feel that, as a protection to our customers as well as to ourselves, this notification should be made without delay.

We would ask that no one be received as our representative or be permitted to inspect our machines without giving reasonable proof of his connection with this Company.

Regretting that such means of securing business should be employed by any firm, and thanking you for past favors, we remain,

Respectfully yours,

CROWN FORTIFIES ITS CASE VOTERS TELL OF BRIBERY

New Evidence Confirms What Has Been Previously Declared.

While the evidence brought out in the London bribery investigation proceedings yesterday was less sensational than that of Thursday, when J. G. Pritchett told his round, unvarnished tale of rascality in elections, the presentation rolled up a number of additional points from the testimony of a procession of witnesses who had "voted right" and received pecuniary reward. Mr. Robinette, as usual, at particular pains to bring out that the votes had not been bargained for, and that they would have been recorded for Hyman without the soft persuasion of lucre, but, in this, he was not uniformly successful.

In the afternoon the chief witness was Edgar Jeffreys, a young barrister, identified with organization work before and during the campaign. Jeffreys professed lack of knowledge of any campaign fund. Incidentally was brought out the rather amusing fact that Hon. Mr. Hyman had contributed to the expense of holding a reception in his own honor.

A Game of Golf. J. F. Ellis, ex-president of the Toronto Board of Trade, testified that John O'Gorman had come to him for figures on tendering for envelopes for the Grand Trunk Pacific, and that, on receiving a cheque, he found that $70 or $80 had been added on for, as O'Gorman explained, his commission. Mr. Ellis had returned the extra money, as he did not like O'Gorman's tactics. Magistrate Denison asked what this evidence had to do with the case, and Mr. DuVernet replied that it showed how money was collected, and connected Mr. Reid, a brother of the defendant, Reid, who, he declared the evidence showed, had sent Pritchett into West Bight.

Enoch Fowler of London had received $10 for voting "right" on the suggestion of Tom Lewis. In the previous election he had received $1 from Jerry Collins for a supposed Hyman vote, which he had really given to Gray. Charles Howse had also voted for Gray, he said, the given $10 the day before the election by Sifton.

Thomas Vanstone said he had been solicited by Collins to vote for Hyman, and had been handed $9.50 at the Lewis Hotel by Collins. Witness signed a receipt.

Joseph Tait had been promised $10 by Collins to "vote right."

John A. Norman had been canvassed about his vote by Serviss, Collins and another man. He was told, "if you vote for Hyman, there is $10 in it for you." The money was given to witness' father, who also received some for himself. He would not have voted without inducement.

John H. Andrews testified that Hardy had told him Collins wanted to see him at Lewis' hotel, where he met Mulloy also. Collins said he would know how he voted. Three weeks later, he called for his envelope, which was given him by a man named Donahue.

James Bone said he was promised $10 by Lewis to switch from voting for Gray. He got $10 from Collins in Lewis' hotel.

Oscar Moomton, who is employed in Mr. Hyman's tannery, had seen Sifton, Lewis, Andy and Mine in the committee rooms. Witness was appointed a deputy returning officer. The magistrate remarked that the appointment of a worker in this way would hardly conduce to a fair election.

Charles White identified Jones as a man to whom Collins had handed an envelope containing $10, that was to be paid to the witness.

Didn't Know Much. Francis A. Jones, the next witness, said he had been chairman of a committee in a ward sub-division.

"Who was treasurer?" "We had none."

"Who handled the money?" "We had none."

"Did you know Mr. Collins?" "I've known him for the last sixteen or seventeen years."

"What was he doing in this election?" "We understood he was working over there."

two men, against whom charges of election fraud had been brought previously, had been included in the list.

Jeffreys said he had collected all the money for the Liberal Club. He had started to keep an account of the contributors, but had given that up. The money was used only for club expenses and not a cent went towards election expenses.

Mr. DuVernet asked whether witness had not phoned a Mr. McIntosh, a clerk in the committee rooms, that Mr. Moore objected to Mr. Collins as a deputy. Witness didn't know whether or not he had so phoned.

Arty, he said, was a member of the executive for No. 2 Ward, and Sifton was vice-president for that ward. Witness knew Hamilton Ramsey, but had not been seen by the latter about his getting a polling booth. Mr. DuVernet informed the court that Ramsey testified he had gone to the office of the legal firm to which witness belonged, and had been directed to go to Sifton and receive $10.

"I certainly slipped up on Mr. Collins," volunteered the witness smilingly, when it was suggested that he had not always shown good judgment in his recommendations for deputies.

Jeffreys had known Tom Lewis for years. He testified that the latter had made no suggestions to him as to deputies. He wasn't sure whether Reid was treasurer of the Liberal Association, and denied knowledge of any handing out or receipt of money by the latter. He had sent no bills to Reid.

The Other Side. Mr. Jeffreys was asked if he could give a single instance of corruption, known to him, on the Conservative side.

"I never bothered about the other side. We had cause to believe that men had been tampered with because they stayed away from the polls for no apparent reason. They seemed perfectly O.K. when canvassed, and yet they stayed away."

Mr. Jeffreys was about to be permitted to leave the stand, when Mr. DuVernet, in looking over the bundle of cheques, receipts and club papers in general, happened upon a cheque from Mr. Reid, the amount being $100.

Witness explained that the cheque had been received some time prior to the election, and was a contribution toward a "reception" for Mr. Hyman. Witness thought that the money had come from Mr. Hyman's secretary. But the money had been received before the election.

"Of course this must occur before election, otherwise it wouldn't be any good," assented Mr. DuVernet ingeniously. He asked who had been Hyman's financial agent.

"I couldn't tell that. I know Mr. Murphy was at one time."

Enquiry was made into the nature of the "reception," for which Mr. Hyman appeared to have supplied the funds himself, and it was explained that Mr. Hyman was there, and there was some music, and people came up and shook his hand."

Mr. Armour bustled himself with the witnesses' accounts, and dug up a item of a contribution of $40 on May 10, 1905. Mr. Jeffreys didn't know who had given it, and after some further fruitless researches into his papers he was allowed to go.

"Daniel Home" was the name that was next called, but there was no response. After a short wait, it was decided to adjourn till Monday at 11 a.m.

Mr. DuVernet explained that he had expected Mr. Cory of Ottawa to give evidence yesterday. Mr. Cory is the gentleman whom Premier Scott of Saskatchewan denied having met.

As adjournment was made, Mr. DuVernet complained of the continued absence of William Spence, who has been twice subpoenaed. Mr. Spence is the deputy who was displaced to make room for Jerry Collins as deputy returning officer. Magistrate Denison advised that if Mr. Spence continues absent a warrant be issued to compel his attendance.

FAREWELL BANQUET. The Whitty Old Boys, who are tendering a farewell banquet to Hamar Greenwood, M.P., at the St. Charles Cafe on Tuesday evening next, held a rousing meeting last night and completed final arrangements. The announcement, submitted a toast list, interspersed with a musical program, the bids fair to outdo any similar event of the season, and promises a feast of season and a flow of soul that will startle the guests of his evening on his return journey with happiest recollections of his old comrades. Many of the best speakers and singers of the city, all old Whitty boys, will contribute to the program.

The Haunts for Big Game. Are reached by the Grand Trunk Railway, and single fare rate will be in effect. Call at city ticket office, northwest corner King and Yonge streets, for full particulars.

Pale-Faced Girls. Thousands Using Successful Cure For Palefaces and Anaemia.

The pallid girl always lacks appetite. What little she eats is badly digested. At night she is restless, she dozes, but doesn't sleep soundly.

Vital force must be increased, new blood must be supplied, and a general rebuilding take place before she will feel like she ought.

Dr. Hamilton had invaluable experience in these cases and found nothing so prompt in building up the young women as his vegetable pills of Mandrake and Butternut.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills begin by cleansing the system and purifying the blood; they also improve digestion and render food ready for absorption. Additional nourishment is quickly supplied and the patient is fast strengthened and invigorated.

Full of spirit, ruddy and strong is the girl that assists her system by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

The following recent letter from Miss Etta McEwen of Haliburton speaks for itself:

"In using Dr. Hamilton's Pills, I find my system is wonderfully built up. It is certainly the most effective remedy I ever used. I have now a good appetite, and am generally more energetic in the morning feeling quite refreshed."

Formerly I felt tired and depressed. I looked as if a severe illness was hanging over my head.

"Nothing could give quicker results than Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and I strongly advise every young woman to use them."

All dealers sell Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25 cents per box, or five boxes for $1.10 by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., U.S.A. and Kingston, Ont.
