Sir Wilfrid's Words. "You can say that I deprecate any phobia has been recorded in England act of lawlessness. I fully realize that since 1902 is cited as an illustration such conduct makes the question all the more difficult to settle. We have no desire to interfere with the good feeling that exists between Canada and Japan as two nations and do not think that Japan has any desire to disregard our feeling. That being the case, I amticipate a satisfactory solution of the whole question although it has had its serious aspects."

The influx of Japanese is not nearly so great as the dispatches from British Calumbia would indicate. For the seven months ending July last the total arrival of Japanese in British Columbia were 4,121, but of this numship heretofore subsisting between John C. Elliott and Lewis S.
