The Canadian society, in addition to working for the Dominion, had helped the French, Italian and other allies. Betterment of Conditions.
Before moving the election of officers, Mrs. H. E. Mahon explained the future position of the Red Cross, which will continue work along the lines of amelioration, the differently. We do not intend to supersede the work of the public authorities, said the speaker. The Red Cross would provide an atmosphere to discover the causes of disease thru experts, and with a large vision assist in wide-world knowledge for the betterment of conditions. H. C. Pope, Woodstock, seconded the election of officers.

That the success of the Canadian Red Cross Society will stand as one of the brightest pages in the history of the country, was the statement of his excellency the governor-general. Those who come after us, said the duke, will be able to regard vital questions in a broader sense because of the work of the people of Canada during the war. The success had been achieved thru the cordial unity and spirit which had actuated the Canadian people. The part of the Red Cross had been the power to express the spirit of the people in concrete action.

"We are standing on the threshold of one of the most far-reaching movements of history and of the world," said the speaker, who then told something of the plans of the organization, which were later set forth in a resolution. The new work of the people of Canada, by their part in the treaty, was pledged to carry out in the letter and the spirit."

Quoting Lloyd George, his excellency said, "You cannot get an A1 nation out of a C2 population. He did not believe that Canada was a C2 nation, and it could become greater. What is needed is a sound mind in a sound body, and public opinion behind it." Taking a glance into the future, his excellency said he saw no reason why someone in the office who now had the duty to fill, should not go about closing tubercular institutions instead of opening them.

According to Macaulay, the duke finished his address by the following quotation from Macaulay's essays:

"It is not by the intermeddling of Mr. Southey's idol, the omniscient and omnipotent state, but by the prudence and energy of the people, that England has hitherto been carried forward."

HOW TO MAKE YOUR HAIR BEAUTIFUL

Ten Minutes' Home Treatment Works Wonders. Stops Falling Hair and Dandruff and Makes the Hair Soft, Brilliant, Lustrous and Fluffy.

Better than all the so-called "hair tonics" in the world is a simple, old-fashioned home recipe, consisting of plain Bay Rum, Lavona (de Compose), and a little Menthol Crystals. These three mixed at home in a few minutes work wonders with any scalp. Try it just one night and see. Get from your druggist 2 oz. of Bay Rum, 6 oz. of Menthol Crystals and 15 grains of Menthol Crystals. Dissolve the Crystals in the Bay Rum and pour in 1 oz. of water. Shake well and let it stand for an hour before using. Apply it by putting a little of the mixture on a soft cloth. Draw this cloth across the hair, taking just one small strand at a time. This cleanses the hair and scalp of dirt and dandruff and makes the hair soft and fluffy. To stop the hair from falling and to make it grow again, rub the lotion briskly into the scalp with the finger tips or a medium stiff brush. Apply it night and morning. A few days' use and you will not find a single loose or straggled hair. They will be locked on your head as tight as a vice. Dandruff will disappear. You will find the downy hair sprouting up all over your scalp and this new hair will grow with wonderful rapidity.

Any druggist can sell you the above. The prescription is very inexpensive and we know of nothing so effective and certain in its results.

ward in civilization; and it is to the same prudence and the same energy that we now look with comfort and good hope.

"Our rulers will best promote the improvement of the nation by strictly confining themselves to their legitimate duties, by leaving capital to find its most lucrative course, commodities their fair price, industry and intelligence their natural reward, idleness and folly their natural punishment, by maintaining peace, by defending property, by diminishing the price of law, and by observing strict economy in every department of the state.

"Let the government do this, the people will assuredly do the rest."

In moving the following resolution, which, because of its bearing on the future of the Red Cross Society, is here published in full, Dr. James W. Robertson said he believed that the treaty referred to would do away with any future war; R. B. Bennett was the second.

An Important Resolution.
"Whereas, under the terms of the peace treaty, a league of Red Cross societies was called into existence; and whereas the Canadian Red Cross Society, in accepting membership in the league, has thereby become responsible for carrying out the objects set forth in the treaty, viz, the promotion of public health service, and the mitigation of suffering;

"And whereas it is the policy of the Red Cross Society:

"(a) To carry its peace-time work in cordial and intelligent co-operation with other nationally-organized voluntary bodies, also engaged in the promotion of public health service, and effective use of all available resources.

"Therefore be it resolved:

"1. That the executive committee be directed to arrange for the formation of a committee to be called the Red Cross advisory and consultative committee, to be constituted as hereafter provided for.

"2. That the duties and powers of the committee be:

"(a) To advise its constituent bodies on means whereby, by their voluntary action, the largest measure of co-operation between and amongst them may be secured and the greatest degree of appropriate co-ordination of their activities may be arranged;

"(b) To take into consideration any suitable question submitted by any of the bodies represented on it, and to report the result of such consideration to all its constituent bodies.

"3. That the executive committee appoint three representatives, and that each provincial branch be requested to elect a representative.

"4. That the Dominion department of public health, the St. John Ambulance Association, the St. John Brigade, the Victorian Order of Nurses, the Canadian Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, the Canadian National Committee for Combating Venereal Disease, the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene, the Canadian National Health Association, and other eligible bodies be each invited to appoint two representatives.

"5. That the Canadian Medical Association, the Canadian National Association of Trained Nurses, and the Canadian Association of Public Health Officers, and the Association of Medical Officers of the Canadian Militia be each invited to appoint two representatives.

"6. That the executive committee be directed to arrange for the calling of a meeting of the first meeting, and that thereafter the advisory and consultative committee arrange the order of its own procedure.

Col. Noel Marshall.
Col. Noel Marshall, who is retiring from the chairmanship of the executive committee, was remembered in a resolution which stated that this society in annual meeting assembled, desires to express to him its appreciation of the tireless energy and the wisdom with which he has guided the conduct of the Red Cross Society. The inspiration he has given to Canada by his devotion to the welfare of the whole world, and the debt of the society to him for the manner in which its work has been carried on cannot be over-estimated.

The resolution was moved by his excellency, who paid high tribute to the work of Col. Marshall, and in seconding it, Lady Drummond said, that Col. Marshall had in a remarkable degree the qualities which had always kept the society together. He always got what he wanted because he always went through the right way about it.

Mrs. Plumtre.
Another resolution reported with regret the resignation of Mrs. Plumtre from the position of honorary secretary, because she found it impossible to carry on the work in addition to the duties entailed by the presidency of the Ontario division of the Red Cross, in which she has been elected. In moving this resolution, the Duchess of Devonshire said:

"I beg to move a very hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Plumtre for her splendid services, and thereby to record our grateful appreciation of her never failing inspiration and self-sacrificing qualities which have contributed so greatly to the successful working of the society."

His excellency also expressed appreciation of her own re-election as president of the Canadian Red Cross and stated that the society was the friend of the people in every country. Kenneth J. Dunstan seconded the resolution and added his tribute to the excellence of the war work of Mrs. Plumtre.

Junior Red Cross.
A resolution dealing with the formation of a Junior Red Cross was moved by Mrs. C. B. Wigan of Calgary, who explained that the idea was to make an annual campaign in the interests of this work, the members to be self-sustaining. This was seconded by Mrs. Fleming of Victoria.

The following are the officers: President, Her Excellency the Duchess of Devonshire; past presidents, Sir John Mc Gillivray, Major-General G. Sterling Ryerson; vice-presidents for the provinces—Alberta, Right Rev. T. J. McNally; British Columbia, F. V. Jones; Manitoba, G. F.
