DR. VINCENT'S QUEST OF CITY MEDICAL MEN

Hon. Dr. Roberts Has Conference With Rockefeller Foundation Head.

A very enjoyable luncheon in honor of G. E. Vincent, Ph. D., L.L.B., chairman of the Rockefeller Foundation, was given at noon today in the Union Club by the members of the Medical Society. Covers were laid for forty-five. Dr. A. Edward Logie, president of the society, occupied the chair. Addresses were given by the guest of honor, Hon. W. F. Roberts, minister of public health, Dr. W. W. White, Dr. Murray MacLennan and others. The speeches dealt with matters of interest to the medical profession and to public health generally. Dr. Roberts was with Dr. Vincent most of this morning discussing questions pertaining to public health in which both are greatly interested. The minister of health put the interests of the province before Dr. Vincent in connection with the distribution of funds from the foundation and the curator of the foundation did not commit himself as to whether a share might be expected by this province for hospital and health development. The fund is more particularly for medical colleges to aid in education.

NO TRACE OF THE WEALTH SUPPOSED TO BE T. L. REED'S

Some of his friends have been rather mystified concerning the value of the estate of Thomas L. Reed, for many years a post office employee in St. John. He died here a short while ago, and just before his death told some friends that he was worth about $200,000 and that he had made a will through one of the local trust companies. A safety deposit box in one of the local banks in which he was supposed to have papers of value was opened the other day in the presence of his administrator, J. King Kelley, K.C., Judge H. O. McInerney, of the probate court, W. H. Ross and his brother, Charles Reed of New York. It was found to contain only a mortgage held by the late Mr. Reed for about $450 and a $5 gold coin. At the trust company's office it was said there was no will and they had no record of its having been drawn.

Whether or not he was possessed of the extent of property generally credited to him is now the question. He was credited with having considerable money invested in bonds and other securities and was owner of a property from which he derived an income besides his salary of $1,000 at the post office.

POLICE COURT

In the police court this morning, Fred Mahoney and William Wilson were charged with acting suspiciously in an alley off Charlotte street last night, and not being able to give a satisfactory account of themselves. The arrest was made by Detective Biddecombe and Policeman Young, who gave evidence to the effect that they had been watching these men and on account of their actions arrested them. The magistrate complimented the officers for the diligence shown in the execution of their duty. The accused were remanded until a further investigation can be made. Two men charged with drunkenness were remanded.

IS TEACHER OF UKRAINIANS

Mrs. L. M. Wilson Left Here
Last Evening for West

Formerly of Woodstock, She Is Devoting Herself to Education of These New-Comers in the Edmonton District.

Mrs. L. M. Wilson, formerly of Woodstock, who has been visiting Mrs. W. C. Good, Carmarthen street, left last evening for the Canadian west, where she will resume her duties as government teacher among the Ukrainians, who have established several colonies there. Mrs. Wilson has spent several years there teaching among those people and although many hardships have to be put up with, she says the work is extremely interesting and also is necessary to teach the foreign cousins the customs of this great country so that they will become naturalized.

She said for the most part they are well-to-do and prosperous; they are great workers and are honest. In order to teach the children, the government has established schools in various districts, each district comprising an area of four miles and for the most part the teacher is the only Canadian in the district. It is in one of these that Mrs. Wilson is doing her work.

There are no churches in the district and where Mrs. Wilson is stationed the nearest church is four miles away, so that during the cold weather it is hardly possible to live a life other than that of a hermit. This district is on the line of the C. N. R. east of Edmonton and in the heart of the farming country, this occupation being the one followed by the Ukrainians. The educational institution is very small and consists of a school house and a small house occupied by the teacher. The teachers have to do all their own house work.

The customs of the people, she says, are much different than ours and it is only with much difficulty that their ideas can be changed. The women do all the hard work about the farms and go in their bare feet during the greater part of the year except in the coldest weather and then they shut themselves in from the outside world. She says they have no idea of the laws of sanitation and their ideas of humanity also are very different; children and relatives are not regarded of so much value as the stock on the farms. The death of a child is looked upon as in the natural course of events and the funeral takes more the form of a picnic than that of a funeral. Doctors in that section are very seldom seen as the Ukrainians have no faith in medical care. One of the greatest difficulties to contend with is found in the native religious workers, who go around among the half-telling tales. Just the more they hear of the Canadian customs the less happy they will be and for this reason the teachers are not received as well as they might be, yet as a general rule the people are hospitable.

Mrs. Wilson says that to appreciate the good qualities of the people one has to live with them for some time and become thoroughly acquainted with them, and if they take a fancy to a Canadian there is nothing within their power they will not do. The children of course cannot speak English, so the teachers and in a good many cases the little ones have to be taught by illustrations rather than words. One lady aged ten years in writing a composition on "alcohol," wrote "it is a liquid that looks like water but it ain't; if you run it on your head for a headache it will cure it but if you take it inside it will give you a headache." Mrs. Wilson says that the greatest need in that section of the country is more workers and she appeals to the public to interest themselves so that more teachers may go out there. The children, she says, are very anxious to learn.

A. O. H. HONORS PATRON SAINT

Enjoyable Evening Spent in Their Rooms—Members of Ladies' Auxiliary Also Present.

A very enjoyable couple of hours was spent last evening when the members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Ladies' Auxiliary gathered in the society's rooms in Union street to celebrate the feast of their patron saint, John C. Ferguson, the president of the order, made the opening address, dealing for a time with the life of St. Patrick and then speaking on the founding of the Hibernian order and its life down to the present day. Mr. Ferguson's address was listened to with the greatest interest and keenly enjoyed by all. The rest of the evening was spent in song and recitation and remarks made by those present. At the close, refreshments were served by an efficient committee.

Those taking part in the programme were F. L. Barrett, Michael Morrissey, Frank O'Keefe, Mrs. J. McFadden and John Duley in solos, and Mrs. William Gillen, John T. Sheehan and Michael Gary in recitations. Short speeches were made by Jas. H. McHugh, John Stanton, F. L. Barrett and J. G. McDermott who were called on for remarks. The county presidents of the two societies, Mrs. William Gillen and James P. McAndrew, made short speeches, dealing with the workings of the organization and promising activity in all their endeavors in the future. Miss Josephine Mullin and John Kelly acted as accompanists during the evening. Miss Winifred McNeil, the president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and Jas. Hanlon, the president of Division No. 2, A. O. H., Fairville, occupied seats on the platform with the chairman, Mr. Ferguson.

Would A 40% Saving Interest You At This Particular Time?

A large Upper Canadian furniture factory of worth recently changed ownership and the new owners found a comparatively large stock of incomplete bedroom suites on hand. Some designs with the bed missing, others a dressing table, etc., and rather than complete them at present costs decided to dispose of the stock at prices which operated months ago—not the present high.

Our buyer was quick to take advantage of this situation and effected an immediate purchase—hence we pass on our good fortune to you. The woods are mahogany, walnut and quartered oak, and designs most acceptable.

But the price will be the chiefest consideration. For instance, you can get a dresser at $72, $76.50, $79.20 and $81.00—and chiffoniers and dressing tables at proportionate prices.

These are all high grade in every way and if made today would easily demand at least 40 per cent. more than we are asking.
