CROPS IN WESTMORLAND

Sackville Post.—A good illustration of the shortcomings of the present season is to be found in the fact that Chase Fawcett, of Upper Sackville, realized from his planting of 4,000 or 5,000 tomatoes, about $25, which represents, perhaps, the same number of bushels, while, if he had got about a peck from every vine, he would have harvested from 300 to 400 bushels. Fred Estabrooks, one of the most enterprising of our younger farmers, has a thousand tons of hay ready for shipment, mostly to the West Indies. Last year he exported not far from 4,000 tons. Despite the poor season, he says there is a considerable quantity of pretty good hay to be found. While the English hay, so-called, is all harvested, there are large quantities of mixed hay and broadleaf yet uncut, and a good deal of grain yet unharvested. The wet weather this week has completely prevented any operations in this line or in the digging of potatoes. George A. Fawcett shipped one carload of potatoes for the West Indies, and two to Upper Canada this week. A large number of carloads will be shipped at an early date when cars have been obtained.

COAL AT ROCKPORT, N. B.

Sackville Post.—Word comes from Rockport that coal has been discovered in that neighborhood. The outcroppings were first noticed along the shore in at least two places. A large hole was dug into the bank and a seam two or three feet thick has been opened up. A Sackville man, who was at Rockport a few days ago, brought a piece of the coal home and declared it burned very freely. It is said that outside capital is interested in the project and that if coal in sufficient quantities can be found here to make the mining of it a paying speculation, the work of opening up the mine will be rapidly proceeded with next spring. As Rockport is not very far from the Joggins Mines on the Nova Scotia side, it may be that outcroppings discovered here are simply a continuation of the Joggins seam.

TAGGERS STARTED OUT IN HOPE OF MAKING RECORD

Financial Assistance Being Asked for Today for Sisters' Hospital—The Work and the Workers

This is Tag Day, the day chosen by the Ladies Auxiliary of the A. O. H. to assist in raising funds for the new infirmary to be opened by the Sisters of Charity, although the weather was not favorable, many young ladies, armed with a bunch of tags and a Bank of New Brunswick bank, started out early this morning to make the collection a large one. The whole town, from Courtenay Bay to Milford was to be covered and the ladies expected to raise a larger sum than has yet been secured by this method here.

The operations started this morning at 7:45 o'clock with a band of taggers swooping down on the workers at Courtenay Bay, and nearly everyone at the big works is wearing one of the tags, which bear the inscription "Sisters' Infirmary, Tag Day, 1912." At eight o'clock the collectors were stationed on all the principal streets.

The ladies have established depots in several parts of the city, where the tags are secured their tags, and also something to eat. In the city proper the A. O. H. Hall in Union street is the headquarters, and an efficient committee composed of Mesdames McCarthy, Sheehan and Finnegan, assisted by other ladies, are stationed in the North End St. Michael's Hall is the rendezvous of the workers, and those in charge are Mesdames Martin, Allison and Martin. In Carleton, the Sisters' convent is used and Miss Gallant and Miss McNeil are in charge. The Fairville and Milford taggers use the St. Michael's Hall in Main street.

The supervisors of the taggers visited the stations through the day to see that everything was going right. Several automobiles had been kindly loaned to the ladies to assist them in their operations, and also to convey the taggers from place to place. The cars of Dr. W. W. White, Dr. F. J. Hogan, J. P. Lemeny, J. Fraser Gregory, Miss Murray, Percy Thomson and several others were included.

The Bank of New Brunswick has arranged for the head office in Prince William street, and also all the branches in the city to keep open until six o'clock this evening so that the taggers may make deposits at any time. None of the taggers are allowed to go into factories, mills, workshops, etc., without being accompanied by one of the supervisors.

The young lady taggers expect to have everyone in the town wearing one of their badges by six o'clock this evening. The taggers whose names were available are: Misses Mona McGrath, Agnes Collins, Kathleen Lundy, Margaret Driscoll, Violet Taylor, Katherine McGrath, Helena Quinn, Catherine Higgins, Annie Collins, Annie Walsh, Annie Jennings, Bessie Gibby, Teresa Sarge, Katherine Kean, Lillian McLaughlin, Kathleen Douglas, Beatrice Mooney, Mary Power, Irene O'Brien, Agnes McLaughlin, Beatrice McLaughlin, Kathleen Shannon, Rita McEade, Mary McCarthy, Helen Cotter, Dorothy Hansen, Gertrude Lawton, Ruth Conway, Margaret Power, Mary Downing, Ethel McBride, Kathleen O'Brien, Anna McLaughlin, Mary-Ann Egan, Eugenie Cormier, Edith Carthy, Catherine Gallivan, Nora Gallagher, Florence McHale, Mollie Carleton, Catherine Burns, Mary McLean, Campbell, Marion Power, Mary Chaisson, Grace Holmes, Frances McLennery, Nellie Cameron, Catherine Fitzpatrick, C. NOBLEMAN GETS MOOSE

Lord Clinton and Lieutenant Colonel Trebus like the New Brunswick Sport

Lord Clinton and Lieutenant Colonel Trebus of Portgalloway, Wales, who have been hunting in New Brunswick, have returned home. On Monday last, with the assistance of Guide Norman McLeod of Gaspe, they bagged a big moose, with a fifty-four inch spread. One of the finest heads that has been secured in the province this season. They also secured quite a few birds, including partridge and woodcock, and spent a very successful and happy holiday in the woods. They had been out only two days with the guide when they succeeded in getting their moose. Both were exceedingly well pleased with the hunting in New Brunswick and expect to return here next season.

TODAY'S MARKET
