The day was not marked by any record breakers' score, such as was made in the match last year with Halifax by George McAvity's brilliant playing, but nearly all of the scores came below 40, which is very creditable, as anything below 45 is looked upon as a good score. It is suggested that next year the match in St. John be played first and the Woodstock match at this time of year, on account of the very warm weather experienced in Woodstock in July. It is also suggested that the players meet on neutral links next year, such as at St. Andrews.
