TO SELL PARKS COTTON MILLS.

Judge Barker this afternoon decided to issue a decree for the foreclosure and sale of the Parks Cotton Mills.

POLICE COURT.

Another Case of Ball Playing on the Street.

Interesting Cow Story—A Case That Has Been Pending a Year and a Half.

Dennis O'Sullivan has a throat. Sometimes it causes trouble. It did last night. The spirits moved him to quench the thirst and he moved the spirits. When all was over Officers Killen and Henry escorted Dennis from Pond street, where he had gone, knowing that the spirits would be on it, and took him to the central. The morning he went to Clifford's for two months.

Some time ago Mrs. Gleason of 19 Germain street, and John Gordon had some slight difficulty. Quinlan left his trunk in Mrs. G.'s house, and when he went back for it was not permitted to enter. He then, according to his own story, called in the assistance of Officer Crawford, but did not get in. Quinlan finally used some force and pushed in the door. Mrs. Gleason states that she was never asked to open the door, and laid an information against Quinlan with wilful destruction of property. This was on November 17, 1899, and the case has stood over since then, while the door was being repaired.

Hon. H. A. McKeown, who appeared for the complainant, said that as the case had got this far in a year and a half, he did not wish to rush the court, and requested that a decision might be rendered inside of the next two years.

But the magistrate feared that if the parties got away from the court this time they might never come back, and accordingly gave judgment dismissing the case.

Scott E. Morrill appeared for the defendant.

James Carbery and Leo Holland played ball on Clarence street. They were not careful enough and the ball happened to hit the window of a morning Carbery, who is ten years old, pleaded the case for the defence. He said, "We were having a few catches and I had the ball and was going to throw it to Leo and he was not looking and Mister Wisted came along and Leo might have caught the ball and he didn't, and it hit Mister Wisted, and Mister Wisted said it hit my sister, but it didn't; it just missed my sister and Mister Wisted was hit and the ball was out." The case was dismissed, and Mr. Wisted addressed the court.

"Your honor, this playin' ball is certainly a nuisance. It's pretty hard if a man can't come along sidewalks without gettin' hit, but they won't play with a hard ball."

Magistrate—You may consider yourself lucky. On Pitt street they play with lobster cans."

This thing ought to be stopped. There is two police that give us comparatively quietness on the street, but when they ain't there we have no peace."

The magistrate repeated the statements he had made some days ago in regard to boys playing ball on the street. He said it was a nuisance and must be stopped. It is to be regretted that no steps have been taken to provide a playground for the boys, but henceforth all games on the street must be stopped. The case was postponed until next Wednesday, which the magistrate announced would be a field day and all cases of this nature would be dealt with.

Henry Seeley was reported for allowing his cow to run loose on Metcalfe street. There was something distinctly appropriate about a Durham street cow, imported from the Milkton running loose on Metcalfe street. The complainant objected not so much to the cow as to the noise of the bell, which he says is a vibration on the nerves. Seeley was fined two dollars, and in regard to the cow was told to better looked after.

James McLaughlin, who is said to have a ferocious dog, explained that the animal was not cross, but that it was a cross-half Spaniard and half coon. There was some little discussion as to the animal's disposition, and Mr. McLaughlin promised not to let it bite anybody.

Joseph Guthrie, arrested on June 25th, on a warrant for beating his wife was brought before the court today and as he wished some witnesses summoned, he was remanded.

A YOUNG WOMAN DROWNED.

Cecily, the 15 year daughter of John A. McInyre, of Onabon, N. B., was drowned on Friday of last week in the lake near her father's home. It seems that she was subject to fits and that she went to get a pail of water from the lake, and stepped into a boat to dip the water, and it is thought took a fit and fell head foremost into the lake and was drowned. She was missed only a few minutes after the accident happened and was found beside the boat in about two feet of water.

TRAIN KILLS COWS.

Recently a herd of cattle owned by James O'Brien of Beaver Brook, strayed on the I. C. R. track, northern division, just before the express passed. When the express came along they were quietly chewing their cud. Six of them were killed and several injured. The train was running at a high speed. It was a little foggy and the engineer claims he did not see the cattle in time to stop.

THE PENMAN RAID VETERANS.

The association of Penman Raid Veterans which was recently organized in Indianapolis is rapidly growing. Its membership at present is forty-three and in the city there are about two hundred men, most of whom are expected in time to become members.

The idea of the promoters is to form a society on the same principle as the United States Grand Army, although of course it will be a less numerous body. They intend to keep up the memory of the campaign in which they were engaged and as a body receive all the honors due them. Some of the members consider that if they did not go away to fight in a foreign country they did leave home to defend Canada, and consequently deserve as much, if not more credit than do the ones who went to Africa, and it is possible that at some future time they may apply for the freedom of the city.

For the present, until the new society is in a satisfactory condition, weekly meetings will be held, and when the membership has been further increased a definite plan of action will be decided upon.

A TERRIFIC BATTLE.

The event of the season in sporting and social and other circles is down for next week. Perhaps it will take place on Wednesday, and perhaps it will be on the Shamrock grounds. These are mere details. The main and engrossing fact is that the base ball teams from the customs house and W. L. Tel. staff will meet on the diamond. A great amount of energy is now being devoted to the work of limbering up for the occasion. The Star is informed that Keith Barber will captain the customs men, and that Arthur Everett will play short stop. A good medical outfit is being prepared, and any literature on the subject of sore throat and soft blisters will be gratefully accepted by members of both teams.

THAT MARVEL.

Referring to the Quebec despatch to the effect that Miss Doucet of Yarmouth had recovered the use of her limbs while at the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, the Moncton Transcript of last evening says:—

The first returning train from the pilgrimage reached Moncton this afternoon at 14 o'clock. A Westmorland Co. gentleman who accompanied the pilgrim, in conversation with a Transcript reporter in reference to the above said: "It is undoubtedly a fact. I called on the woman to make sure of it. She gave me her name as Sylvester. I saw her at the shrine of St. Anne de Beaupre, and she was very young. She further told me that she now felt like a new person altogether."

DAVID C. RUPERT MISSING.

Was it His Body that Floated Out With the Tide?

David C. Rupert, ship carpenter, of 48 Brook street, has been missing since between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday morning. At 4.30 o'clock yesterday morning the body of a man was seen floating in the harbor with the ebb tide. It is believed by some that the body was that of Mr. Rupert.

For some time past Mr. Rupert, who is fifty-five years old, has been in poor health and subject to melancholy. Frequently he would become restless, and unable to sleep, and many times he had slipped before dawn and taken short walks. Lately he has occupied a large instead of a bed, and sometimes would not disrobe. This morning his family heard him close the door between 3 and 4 o'clock, apparently going out, but were not alarmed, as they thought he was about to take his usual quiet walk. As he had not returned at 6 o'clock enquiries were made and then a general search began. He was not seen yesterday by any of his acquaintances, and is still missing. He had no money on his person. He rarely of late went far from home, always desiring his wife's company. Mr. Rupert was about five feet four inches in height, with medium complexion and short, grey side whiskers. He dressed in black clothing, with white straw hat.

At 4.30 o'clock yesterday morning the crew of the schooner James L. Maloy, lying at Sand Point, saw the body of a man floating past on the ebb tide. It was the body of a small man in his shirt sleeves, wearing dark clothes and dark shirt. His hair was dark. H. Stackhouse, who had been searching for Mr. Rupert, went and interviewed Capt. Whipple and the crew of the schooner, but they were unable to give any further information than that stated above. It is feared, however, that the body was that of Mr. Rupert.

Mr. Rupert's family comprises his wife, six daughters and a son, Judson, who is married and lives in Carleton.
