LACKAWANNA INVESTIGATION IN CORNING, N. Y., WRECK, IN PROGRESS

WILLIAM H. TRUESDALE, VADREN J. CHENEY, JAMES O. SEBRING, CLAUDE V. STOWELL.

With the readjustment of William H. Schroeder, the engine driver or held responsible by a coroner's jury for the wreck on the Lackawanna Railroad at Corning, N. Y., there is a certainty that the charge of W. H. Truesdale, president of the Lackawanna, to the effect that the first indictment against Schroeder was dismissed as part of a political deal, will be thoroughly investigated.

Schroeder probably will be brought before Justice Benton in the Supreme Court or before Judge Cheney in the County Court. On the same day, it is understood, District Attorney Stowell will appoint James O. Sebring, City Attorney of Corning, a special assistant.

day from a pleasant visit in St. John and Boston. (Yarmouth Telegram.)

Mrs. George Lewis, Lewis avenue, is very ill with pneumonia. Councillor Alex. Ross was called to Amherst on Wednesday morning by the news of the death of his sister, Mrs. John Campbell. She had been ill for some time of blood poisoning, and leaves a husband and a large family.

Fred Longman arrived home on Wednesday from Quebec on a visit to his mother. I. C. R. SECTION BOSS LAID UP WITH BROKEN RIB

Hampton, April 19.—Thomas Conway, I. C. R. boss section man here, is laid up with a broken rib, which was caused in an unusual manner. He and his men were fitting in a short rail in connection with the new turntable. The piece had been cut nearly through, and was lifted by Mr. Conway at one end and by two men at the other, the latter being told to wait for his signal before dropping it across another rail to complete the fracture. The men let go at the wrong time, and although Mr. Conway was not struck by the rail yet, as he held on to his end, the shock of the collision of steel on steel, was sufficient to jar the whole torso, thus causing the displacement from which he is now laid up. Dufferin.

N. Rogers, W. J. Smith, J. R. Saunders, C. H. Shaw, Toronto; P. W. Lavery, G. T. Conway, P. F. Strong, Montreal; G. S. McDonald, Stellarton; W. H. Fraser, Halifax; E. J. Mansfield, A. A MILKMAN KILLED BY CAR IN HALIFAX

William Charlton Lost His Life While Delivering Milk in Halifax Early Sunday Morning.

Special to The Standard. Halifax, April 20.—William Charlton lost his life on Oxford street today, being run over by a street car. Charlton was serving milk to customers. When he halted up his team for this purpose he was behind a south-bound car so that he did not observe the car coming north. He sprang from his seat on the wagon to cross the street to the customer's house, and just at that moment the northbound car came along. He was knocked down and the car wheels passed over his body, so that he died a few minutes after reaching the hospital.
