With the confetti showered upon her by laughing friends on her marriage day still fresh in the minds of the many who were present at the Episcopal church, Westfield, the congregation of the church and the pastor, Rev. On October 22 she went to her new home and soon after her arrival in Regina she became ill with typhoid fever and was taken to a hospital, where she died.

PAID-UP ROW IN GLOUCESTER

Conservative Troubles in That County Almost as Bad as They Are in St. John—A Few Instances.

To the Editor of The Telegraph: Sir,—The row in the Conservative committee of St. John, as reported in a recent issue of The Telegraph over the question of patronage, seems to be spreading throughout the province. That all is not sunshine in the Conservative camp in Gloucester county is quite evident from the murmurings to be heard in these quiet hamlets.

The manner in which contracts for public services and building operations are being manipulated by distributors of patronage is a great cause of ill-feeling among our conservative friends. The contract for the lighthouse at Grand Anse, according to certain sources, has been awarded to a contractor who is not a resident of the county. It is reported that all tenders have been called for by a contractor who is not a resident of the county. It is now reported that all tenders have been called for by a contractor who is not a resident of the county.

But the hardest blow administered comes from Mr. Gutelius, the C. P. R. representative. He has been made the patronage committee here to have the local man appointed the inspector on the I. C. R. The recommendations of this patronage manipulator seem to have been accepted by the Conservative committee. The result has fallen to a young man, who drifted to our town a short time ago and obtained employment with one of our firms. He is a native of Ontario and formerly worked on the C. P. R. Mr. Clark, another C. P. R. representative who has lately been placed in charge of the railway station here in Moncton, recommended this young stranger and it appears he got the appointment over the heads of capable and well-known men of the county. This has created a tremendous row.

The dredging operations in our harbor are closed for this season. Tenders for the work were called for last week. It appears that the contracts were given out the department of public works would only consent to sign contracts for 1,000 yards, and this quantity was distributed between two contractors. While all the surveys and soundings were made on the basis of a 20-foot channel, the contracts signed only called for a water depth of 15 feet. People interested in the welfare of our port look with suspicion upon such a radical change in the plans.

It would seem that the contractors are being done in. People would do well to be on their guard in this matter of dredging. It is now well known that the contractors are all called for a water depth of 15 feet, not being done, and it looks very much as if they would have it even to a greater extent next year. Your correspondent has all run round the matter and that it is the intention of the Conservative patronage committee to ask for an appropriation of $50,000 for next season's work upon the harbor. The government to continue or extend the present contracts to include all the necessary work of dredging without a further call for tenders. It is a very serious matter and it is hoped that the responsible authorities will see the wisdom of this proposal.

Notice is given in the Royal Gazette of Nov. 26, that letters patent have been issued incorporating the following companies: The Canadian Patent and Printing Co., Limited, with a total capital of $25,000. The Gatlin Institute with a total capital stock of $50,000.

The Rev. W. A. Ross, general secretary of the N. B. and P. E. School Association, plans to tour Charlottetown, Lunenburg and Miramichi, and proposes to visit St. Stephen, Grand Manan, Grand Harbor, Castalia, North Head, Wilson's Beach, Lord's Cove, Lettie, Penfield or Beaver Head, Ellville, St. Croix and Dumbarton parishes, Oak Bay, Oak Hill and St. Andrews.

The Royal Gazette of Nov. 28 announces the following appointments in the city and county of St. John: George W. Parker, Roy M. Sippell and James Bryant to be justices of the peace. H. H. McLean to be a commissioner for taking affidavits to be read in the supreme court. Herman H. Carpenter to be a commissioner for the taking of affidavits to be read in the supreme court.

Dynamite was resorted to on Saturday in an effort to discover the body of Milford Galbraith who was drowned near Dog Rocks but no result was attained. Digging three charges were used. Grappling has been abandoned and a close watch is being kept along the shore as it is expected that the body will float and be carried to land. Fishermen said Sunday that a thorough search of the coast will be made during the first heavy blow as they are sure that a storm will cast the body on the shore.

In connection with the higher cost of building in St. John than elsewhere, it is now noted that cement, which is now so very extensively in building operations, is being sold at the rate of 60 cents per barrel, while in Bangor today at $1.00 a barrel, while in St. John the price is $2.20. Whether at wholesale or retail, builders in American cities can get the cement at 60 cents cheaper than it can be got here. If the duty on cement were lowered to 10 cents, it would be a distinct gain to consumers in Canada and tend to reduce the cost of building.

DREAMED THAT HE WAS TO DROWN AND IT CAME TRUE

James Seelye of L'Etete Fell Overboard as He Was Perishing—Was to Have Been Married Soon.

St. George, Dec. 1.—James Seelye was drowned at L'Etete on Friday last. He was forty-one years of age, a son of the late Daniel Seelye, and the only member of the family living.

With a number of others the unfortunate man was engaged in mooring a boat. Mr. Seelye and a young man named Hoyt had taken an anchor in a small dingy, and in throwing it into the water it caught on the gunwale of the small craft, tipping it, and throwing the two out. Hoyt was saved, but for the rescuers could reach Seelye he had gone under. The body was recovered some time after.

A strange coincidence in connection with the drowning was the dream recalled by Mr. Seelye shortly before the accident occurred. He asked Hoyt if he could swim and on receiving the answer "no," he said: "Neither can I, and I dreamed last night I was going to be drowned." The funeral was held on Saturday and was largely attended. The business section with a light on turned on on Saturday evening, the citizens turned out en masse under the cry of "We are some town." It was a very pretty sight, especially on William street where the electric light was turned on every pole in a distance of over half a mile, in a straight line, the scene was a bright one.

At 1 o'clock, hundreds of citizens assembled in the county court house, where, Sheriff James E. Stewart, in the name of the people of Dalhousie, read an address to Mayor W. S. Montgomery referring to the great interest in the town towards the establishment of recent modern improvements in the town and the progress of the future of Dalhousie. The chain of progress is nearly complete with the installation of the modern electric light plant.
