A Pleasant Time in Prescott.

Perhaps one of the most pleasant and accessful affairs of its kind that has taken place in Prescott for years was the grand ball given by the members of the C. M. B. A., on Wednesday night in Victoria Heil. Owing to the snow blockade on the G. T. R. and the almost impassable state of the roads, many from Brockville, Morrisburg, Irequois and Cardinal were prevented from being present. When the ball opened, however, there were eighty three couples of the youth and beauty of Prescott on the floor. No accountant having been "fold off" assentry at the door of the hall proper to guard the water fountain or to banish with an autocratic sir those who desired to gezs with interested and appreciative eyes on the teene, the Ielegraph soribs meandered at will on this occasion. The dresses of the ladder, without being extravagant, were both hard with an accession, and in the grand march went to make the scene a chaiming and dzzellug one. It was evident from the Great that everyone present was therefor enjoyment, and happiness and good humour was the order of the night. The music, which was furnished by the Ogdensburg orchestre, must have ruited the most fastidious. At an opportune the organish of the congregation of the decesse, and that your reheated propers and the organishment of the congregation of the propers of the office of the organishment of the propers of the propers of the propers of the organishment of the propers of the organism of the congregation of the safety of the congregation of the safety of the congregation of the propers of the propers of the organism of the congregation of the propers of the organism of the propers of the propers of t humour was the order of the night. The music, which was furnished by the Ogdensburg orchestre, must have suited the most fastidious. At an opportune period in the progress of the programme supper was served on the stage, while dancing ceased not a moment. The tables groaned under a burden of everything and anything that would tickle the appearance of even a chronic dysperite. Here it tite of even a chronic dyspeptic. Here it is due to Miss Bella Murphy to say that the sumptuous and elaborate menu was provided under that young lady's supervision. If there is any truth in appear ances, Miss Murphy must have found a strong guarantee of appreciation of her services and ability from the gusto with services and ability from the gusto with which her numerous and ravenous family which her numerous and ravenous family disposed of the good things of life so temptingly prepared and so smartly provided. In a word the affair was a success in every particular, and reflects the greatest credit on the part of the management. Telegraph, answer he would make row? Was he answer he would make row? Was he right in 1851? Jesus Christ came not to cause a book to be printed but to establish a Church. How did the masses learn the gospel for 1,400 years before the Bible was printed and circulated? The Bible had to be written, and copies were so scarce that only a few could possibly possess them. The Chiniqui of 1851 is a Catholic and confounds Ramsay the Methodist. The Chiniqui of to-day is an apostate and stirs with indigration the heart of every honest man. CATHOLICUS.

CONFIRMATION AT YOUNG'S POINT.
His Lordskip, Right Rev. Thomas J.
Dowling, accompanied by his Secretary,
Rev. Father Radkins, visited this place on Sanday last and administered the sacra-Sunday lest and administered the sacrament of confirmation to twenty-one candidates. The interior of the church was nicely decorated, and the choir gave select music for the occasion. The children were examined by His Lordship, after which the sacrament was administered Mr. C. Young was standing sponeor for the boys, and Mrs. J. E. Kearney for the girls. After Mass he addressed the congregation, who were delighted with his eloquence. His Lordship returned to Peterboro in the evening.

PRESENTATION TO A DEPARTING PRIEST. In accordance with the episcopal man agement of pastorates in the diocese of Peterboro, Rev. Father Kleity, after serving the parish of St. Martin's church, Peterboro, Rev. Father Kielty, after serving the parish of St. Marin's church, Ennismore, for ten years, resched the end of his pastorate in that place last Sunday, having been appointed to St. Joseph's, Douro. His flock took advantage of the occasion after Mass on Sunday to present him with the following address, which was accompanied with a puree of $270:

Rev. Father Keilty was acceptly affected by the evidences he received of the affec-tions of his flock and regret at the sever-ance of such fond ties. His emotions ance of such fond ties. His emotions prevented his usual fluency of expression in replying, the tears coursing down his cheeks, giving further evidence of the depth to which his emotions were stirred. He thanked the people for the kindness expressed so touchingly and so substantially on the present occasion, and also gave his expression to the deep regret he felt at the severance of so many strongly woven ties. The address referred to his work in the parish but he bore testimony to the willing co-operation and assistance to the willing co-operation and assistance of his flock, without which his efforts would have been less successful. He had always found his people willing and ready always found his people willing and ready when asked to contribute to the promotion of their interest in sympathy, in substance and co-operation. So far as his feelings and inclinations went he parted with them with regret, yet he was willing to yield a cheerful and willing obedince to the voice of the Church as heard through their beloved behaps.

FATHER O'CONNELL'S REPLY.

Mr. Reeve, gentlemen and my dearly beloved people. I feet to-day like a father about to leave home and family with a prospect of neer the relations. I feet the trying moment of our separation as priest and people. I feet imy authority over you now experts and people. I feet my authority over you now expers spent among you, and consider how comfortable, joyfui and happy you made my life not only by your many acts of generosity, but especially by the practical virtue of your lives, manifested by the glorioustestimony and efficacy of your faith, it is no wonder that I should feel the anguish and sorrow of a father about to leave his good, faithful, loving and devoted children.

Before leaving you it seemed pleasing to you to present me with an address secompanied with a substantial purse of $300, as the last mark of your love, esteem and good will. To say that I sincerely and heartily thank you would be too cold a form to express the feelings that now animate me. To say that you surprise me would be to fairlify the truth. Your address speaks, too, of your own sorrow. I don't doubtit.

I can read the language of your hearts through your tearful eyes, and feel the limpression more forcibly than any written address can inspire.

The long experience of your generosity. I can read the language of your hearts through your tearful eyes, and feel the limpression more forcibly than any written address can inspire.

The long experience of your generosity. I can read the language of your hearts through your affection at the world hat could or would entice or obligs me to leave you hat here is nothing in this world that could or would entice or obligs me to leave you hat one of the procession of the process object.

I also rejoice that, in parting from you I bear with me your love, good will and esteem, which I prize more than all other considerations.

esteem, which I prize more than all other considerations.

Be assured I shall never forget you in my future home, and whenever I shall bless my people I shall be shall be member me in your family circles and epecially when you come here to assist at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, to pray to your Heavenly Father in the Neme of our Lord Jesus Christ, His holy Mother, and your patron saint, St. Joseph.

So now I bid you a partit g and loving farewell, and beg your acceptance of your generous present, to be applied to your new church, and may the blessings of beace, Joy, union and charity of the Holy Trinity remain with you and your families forever.

Nine years of her life were spent in a couvent, at the close of which then her mother and father both died. Her father had lost his fortune. She has two sixters married, but its unmarried herself. Her taste led her to books and music, the plano being one of her isvortite instruments, on which she performs very finely. Having a decided takent an showing a desire for acting, she was induced by irlends among the nobility to appear on the stage. She receited to Charles Fletcher, who predicted success for her, and recommended ner to Esmson, the teacher of Rachel. He being too old to teach at that time, sent her to Beauvallet, a great tragedian and professor in the conservatory. September 15, 1871, she made her debut in Brussels in the commended of "Farty Finers," reamining there for on-ivear a great favorite. She then went to Rouen, and from there to Paris, playing at the Vaudeville for one year. Afterwards, when on a starring tour through France, she received letters from the Imperial Court to come to the French imperial Theatre, and afterwards, by request of the Czar, she appeared at the Rus ian Theatre, remaining there for dive months. After the sassasination of the Czar the theatre was closed, and she went to Ecglaud. After studying English one month, she speared in "Much Ado About Nothing."
