Colonial Regulations. 1843.*]

18. He is prohibited from receiving or giving Presents on his own account.

19. Any Present which may be delivered to him must be disposed of on the public account; and as the Present which it may be necessary to give in return will have to be provided at the public expense, the cost of it ought not to exceed the amount realized by the sale of the Present received, except when particular circumstances render it proper that some additional expense should be incurred.
