

A detailed woodcut-style illustration of a forest fire. In the foreground, a Fairbanks-Morse fire fighting pump is shown with its engine, hoses, and a large flywheel. A fire hose extends from the pump across a field of tall grass or reeds towards the background. In the background, a large fire is burning in a forest, with thick smoke rising. A person is visible fighting the fire. A bird is flying in the sky above the fire. The entire scene is framed by a simple border.
