S.R.C. Recommends 1951-52 Levy be Increased

U. N. B. Debaters Win Discussion

The U. N. B. debating team consisting of Ruth Nicholson and Bob Sansom won a 2-1 decision over Pine Hill Theological College in Halifax Friday, Feb. 23. It was resolved that "Increased immigration would be beneficial to Canada", with U. N. B. having the negative side. A good sized crowd attended, and many expressed the opinion that it was a very good debate with the teams well-matched and the arguments advanced by both sides interesting and well-developed.

M. MacMahon, the first speaker for the affirmative, declared that Canada needed manpower, especially for the army and for industries. Immigration, he felt, could supply this need.

Bob Sansom stressed the fact that Canada could absorb only 226,000 people annually, and that our natural increase equalled this number. Immigrants, little versed in democracy, became an easy prey for political machines. Skilled workers would be the most desirable immigrants, but by coming to Canada they would weaken the countries of Western Europe by depleting their labour supply, and thus they would indirectly harm Canada.

Dr. MacInnis, the second Pine Hill speaker mentioned the cultural contribution of immigrants, the increased consumer market they created, and the need for more people to occupy our agricultural land.

The second speaker for the negative, Ruth Nicholson, outlined the dangers of allowing immigrants into Canada faster than our facilities can handle them. Our problems of housing and of overcrowded schools and hospitals would be aggravated. With Quebec's attitude as it is, any increase of immigration would hinder the attainment of national unity.

A heated rebuttal followed the main speeches. Pine Hill claimed that they were restrained from using too forcible words by the fact that they were theology students and that there was a woman on the opposing team. U. N. B. was hindered by no such limitation, and the battle of wits in the rebuttal entertained the audience highly. After the decision, the judges, debaters and their friends were entertained at a coffee party.

Residence Dance Is Big Success

Last Friday evening, March 2, Sigma Lambda Beta Rho held their second formal dance of the year. The Residence Society worked their dance in on a busy week-end but this did not keep the event from being a complete success. Although held within a week or two from two other formal dances, the residence hop was well attended with approximately forty house members and their guests appearing.

The music was provided by the Criterions as usual with several of the latest hit parade numbers being included on the program. Although decorations were sparse, they were well appointed and their simplicity added to the attractiveness of both the pool and the dance floor. The perpetual streamers adorned the dining hall

Several Motions on Various Sports Come Up for Wide Discussion at Meeting; Same Sport Schedule

At a general meeting of the S. R. C. held last Wednesday, it was recommended that the S. R. C. levy for the year 1951-52 be increased and that no intercollegiate sports be dropped from the roster.

The annual Athletic Banquet is to be held in the Lady Beaverbrook Gymnasium with a nominal fee of fifty cents per person being charged.

An idea was put forward for an A. A. A. dance to be held at the Lord Beaverbrook Hotel following the banquet. This dance is to be supported by the S. R. C. if it materializes.

The original question brought up at the meeting was the proposal that five major intercollegiate sports be retained and the eight remaining ones be dropped. In an informal survey of the campus opinion on the question, the general feeling seemed to be that all sports be retained, with the possible exception of one of the football teams.

A motion was put forward by Bob Sansom, Freshman S. R. C. Rep., that the student levy be raised two dollars, but was ruled out of order by Ron Stevenson on the grounds that this year's council cannot constitute next year's S. R. C. policy.

It was then moved and carried that the S. R. C. recommend the 1951-52 levy be raised two dollars.

A motion was made by Wally Bridcut, seconded by MacDonald, whereby English Rugby would be abolished for the year 1951-52. A heated debate on the question ensued; and to curtail lengthy discussion, it was moved by Alder Gerow that a vote be taken on the question — the motion being defeated by a substantial majority.

A motion was made that tennis be dropped from Intercollegiate Sports. This motion was later withdrawn.

It was then moved and carried that no Intercollegiate Sport be removed, and that the recommended levy increase fill the deficit in the S. R. C. budget, making it possible for U. N. B. to carry its present lineup of Intercollegiate Sports without interfering with the Intramural Sports.

Fourth Annual Red 'n Black Revue will be underway tonight; Hope to surpass former records this year

As the walls of Teachers' College resound to the words to "Let's Go, Chase Your Blues Away," the 4th Annual Red 'N Black Revue will be underway. Many people have worked hard and long so that this year our show will equal or surpass the great mark set by the previous Revues.

A combination of music and acting has been juggled and rejuggled until at last we believe we have acquired the tempo of the show that we desire. Now that the show is ready for performance, there appears the work of an Emcee and this year the position will be held by Dan MacArthur whom many of you will remember as playing the male lead in the Dramatic Society's production, "The Taming of The Shrew".

We won't single out any of the leading players but will leave that for you to do when you sit back and enjoy yourself at this year's Red and Black Revue.

The Program

A chuck-full program will be presided over this year by Dan MacArthur, an intermediate forester, whose record on stage while at the university shows him more than ready to do the role of Emcee justice.

The ever-popular and leggy girls chorus line is showing more and finer form this year, and will do two numbers, a Charleston, and a military routine. Mrs. Sheila Roberts is directing the girls, and being assisted by Jackie Haines.

No less than nine skits will illustrate the theme of the show, "college life since the '30's" in uproarious style. They deal with the '29 Crash Farmers, Sophomore Court, a Restaurant and the Girls Residence in brilliant burlesque, and routines already show professional polish.

The Soloists

But threatening to steal the show this year are two new soloist finds and two Revue veterans whose vocals punctuate much of the brisk moving musicals. Under the direction of Walter McGinn, local pianist they are Flo Sears, sultry torch-singer, Ted Cleland, who brings a tenor voice to the show to top anything heard there so far; and Noreen Donahue and Kay Mac-

Callum, whose past performances speak for them.

Sneak's Preview

Showing his Brunswickan press card to the guard, one of our reporters was allowed to pass through the heavy steel doors to see the dress rehearsal of this year's Red and Black Revue.

Judging from his report we would say that this year's show will be every bit as good as previous ones. We think that the best item is a skit directed by Stan Jobb entitled "A Sophomore Court". The best individual item is that of Flora Jean Sears who sings torch style. Her directors' remarks at rehearsal "shake it but don't break it". Barbara Bell takes over John's spot with a few more verses of "You'll Get Used to it". Our only criticism is on Dan MacArthur's jokes, some one should tell him a few good anecdotes.

The Rhythm Alley group which has been practising adds the final touch to a well-balanced program. Pit-music will again be under the direction of Walter McGinn and Herbie Weber.

Elections slated for Tuesday; Be sure to get out and VOTE!

The annual elections for the various student offices on the campus will be held next Tuesday March 13th. The polls will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. and voting will be divided into faculties. The Arts and Science students will vote in the Arts building, Foresters in the Forestry building and Engineers in the Electrical Engineering building.

Friday afternoon there will be platform speeches in the Memorial Hall, provided permission can be secured from Dr. Trueman to cancel lectures for the time required. If permission is granted and the speeches are to take place, further information concerning them will be posted on the bulletin boards.

The platforms of some of the candidates will be found on page three of this issue of the Brunswickian. It is hoped that these will be read and judged wisely. Also, if election speeches are possible on Friday afternoon, each student of this University should take it upon himself to attend and acquaint himself with the views, opinions and promises of the candidates. Remember these are the people who will represent you in the various campus offices. They will have the job of managing the student activities next year. It is the duty of the student body to see that the best possible candidate is elected to each position. This can be done only through the careful judgment and voting of, not a few students, but every student on the campus. Indifference or laziness on the part of the student body can lead only to a drop in the quality of student administration present on the campus. Now is the time to do your arguing and discussing instead of complaining next year about the policy or the job done by a person whom you selected as your representative. Vote for whoever you honestly think is the best person for the position but be sure to vote and vote wisely.

New Scholarship Is Established

FREDERICTON, Feb. 26.—The Associated Alumni of the University of New Brunswick has established a new scholarship for U. N. B. students in memory of the late Dr. C. C. Jones, long time chancellor and president of the provincial university. To be called "The Dr. C. C. Jones Memorial Scholarship", the award is valued at $250 annually. Acceptance of the scholarship by the university senate was announced today by U. N. B. President A. W. Trueman.

Plans call for the new scholarship to be paid annually out of alumni funds until such time as it can be established in perpetuity. Conditions of award, decided upon at the Associated Alumni's winter meeting in Saint John last month, restrict the Jones scholarship to second-year students in any regular course at the university. It will be based upon the record of the student in his first year as follows: first division standing in freshman mathematics, general standing in all other subjects of the freshman year, and the worthiness of the student. The first scholarship will be awarded in October, 1951.

Dr. Jones, who died in 1943, is well-remembered by generations of U. N. B. alumni, who studied under his direction and saw him guide the university from 1906 to 1940, a period of steady growth for the provincial institution. Dr. Jones was the academic head of U. N. B. longer than any other man in the university's 151-year history, having been chancellor from 1906 to 1931, and president from that year until his retirement in 1940. He was also professor of mathematics, giving regular courses.

Cecil Charles Jones first entered the University of New Brunswick as an undergraduate from Boundary Creek, N. B., in 1894. He held the learned degrees of B.A., M.A. and Ph.D. from U. N. B., as well as honorary LL.D.'s from Toronto, Bates and McMaster Universities and honorary D.C.L.'s from Acadia and King's of Halifax. During his long years of service he was a member of numerous government and civic commissions. He served a period as vice-chairman of the Conference of Canadian Universities and was a member of the Royal Colonial Institute and the American Mathematical Society.

Budget Grant Is Secured

A petition signed by over 150 interested students was effectual in securing a $76 budget grant to the University Debating Society at a regular meeting of the Students' Representative Council recently. Debate on the budget, which had been twice turned down by the Council was re-opened as the petition was presented by the Society President Fred Allen.

Assent to the budget on the part of the Council was almost unanimous after the petition had been presented. The budget had been turned down on the understanding that interest in debating was not sufficient on the campus to warrant support of the activity.

Motion Lost

Also coming up for discussion at last week's meeting was a motion to amend the constitution, notice
