AUS election results "voided" - Steabrook

By ALI TALLY
The Telecrap Urinal
ST. JOHN

President Steve Steabrook has declared the election results null and void. And has further declared himself permanent dick-tadder (potato-penis) of the Arts Undergraduate Society. Pursuant to his declaration he has announced general amnesty for all BA's who have not declared a major; have not gone to class for the last 10 weeks; have fallen asleep in lectures and who did not vote in the AUS elections last Wednesday.

Otherwise trashed the AUS. He refers, of course, to those organizations who have never shown up to any meetings. Steabrook would also like to announce that he will take up residence within the Dean of Arts Office with his long-time mistress and former AUS executive secretary Kim McLaughlin. Steve and Kim will reside in the Dean's Office with their sixteen children and will be available for sexual-dysfunction counselling at this time. They thank you for your support.

Mark will be leaving for Brazil where he will assume the long-awaited and much anticipated position of Sun-King and otherwise all around good guy of a small pygmy tribe of Head hunters. The AUS wishes Mark well in his new occupation. Don't forget us Mark, love you. Especially Kim. Dean Peter Bent, upon his eviction from Tilley hall has decided to pursue a career in retail sales, or perhaps worm farming in the small Republic of Abu Dabi: Dean Bent, who has been night-lighting as the Ultimate Warrior for the WWF (Really!) will be conducting his last final examination of his career and will also be demonstrating shoulder rolls, body slams, bear hugs and body throwing. (How do you think he became Dean anyway...?)

has announced that he will take as his wives Saltinella Cracko, Nancy Spencer and Erica Coplain the secretaries of the Dean's Office. The ceremonies will take place at Convocation during the Annual Roasting of the President Fest. Wine and roasted Robin will be served. A dance will follow. The groom and the happy wives will then fly to Nepal for a much needed vacation. Upon his return Jeff will assume his new position as Master of the Universe which he will administer with the aid of his new wives who will be co-masters. Their first official act will be to have the letter "y" stricken from the English Language as it is terribly inconvenient to type.

Sex vs citizenship scandal

By SHAWN POND
The Telecrap Urinal
SWITZERLAND

Geneva-Swiss officials are in a state of confusion as they try to sort out the citizenship of one Teresa Richards, a young lady who claims to be a Canadian citizen. In an attempt to provide the most compelling version of "A Day in the Life of a Lesbian", UNB Student Newspaper The Bumswickan author Teresa Richards left for Switzerland in order to complete surgery in a sex change operation. Richards felt that by becoming a woman, she(he) could get the story he so desperately wanted.

days, but Ms. Richards was delayed. While he had believed that wearing a dress would make him a woman, he subsequently found out that that only made him a drag queen. In order to become a woman, he would have to "put himself under the knife." When he returned to Canada, he was denied customs clearance at Pearson International Airport. Customs officials were confused due to the fact that the passport identified the person as a man, but due to new security procedures, a strip search revealed otherwise. As he was dragged away to the next flight for Europe, he was overheard screaming "My readers want this story!" No reader could be found to confirm this.

An editor of the Bums says he was anticipating Mr. Richard's article for March 22, but when he had heard no word, he published anyway. He said that while he appreciated Mr. Richards' efforts, he felt that perhaps he had gone too far in his pursuit of the story, which is so unlike him. Meanwhile, Ms. Richards is relaxing in Bern. She says that she regrets her actions, since she realizes that she never liked women in the first place. She says that she now wants to retire with her horny cat, get married and adopt children. Ms. Richards was last heard complaining of bloating and phantome menstrual cramps, and that nobody understood her.

Something wrong? (who cares)

The Telecrap-Urinal always strives to write things sensationally and slam politicians, university administrators and other people we don't like. We always strive to give Irbing fair and unbiased coverage. We don't care if we make any errors because the only reason we write this crap section is to fill up space. So we would prefer that we don't call us. We would prefer that you write letters so we can edit them and show them around the office and make fun of them. If you, however, want to give us a phone call go ahead and make our day. We'll just hang up on you anyway!

We'd like to hear from you.

Irbing donates to library

By Pet Calcan
The Telecrap Urinal
CHINA

The wealthy Irbing Company recently donated $100 to the Harriet Irbing Library so the library could buy something completely useless and insignificant. The donation came after a decision which was made at a library meeting last week. The library decided to change the library's name. The new name was to be McBain's Library. The McBain's company told the library committee that they would build a new wing. In a quick reaction, Irbing threatened to build another library beside the other one. However, Irbing couldn't get any financial support from the government so they decided not to. But the name-changing has been cancelled since Irbing donated the money. A library worker was quoted as saying: "It's about f...g time, the library is just named after his wife."

Farcity Mania vandals

By JOE SCOOP
The Telecrap Urinal
FREDERICTON

Last weekend saw a change to the usually tame Farcity Mania events when the Physical Plant charged onto Buchanan Field putting an end to the days sponsored event, The Battle for the Swill. Apparently, the full contact lawn bowling was ruining the soccer field. A spokesperson for the Physical Plant blames Weave Millions for the entire catastrophe, claiming "It'll take us at least a month to reseed that field and get it back to the condition it was in before that Farcity Mania event." Millions, who was responsible for the booking and reservation of the field and has been reprimanded in the past for causing a commotion says, "Farcity Mania and its sponsors cannot be held responsible for any damages. The rules of play specifically stipulate that the use of dune buggies is prohibited. Is it my fault if the players don't abide by the regulations? My job is to get the fans out of it... I mean out there!" The dune buggies left deep ruts and in an attempt to trick the competing team land mines were laid throughout the field. A UNB spokesperson for public relations stated "Riot? What riot?" Fortunately, no one was badly hurt.

Weather TORNADO COMING

A big tornado is coming to New Brunswick. It should arrive some time in the next few weeks. Cellars can be bought at your local Irbing owned hardware stores.

The rest of NB, Nova Scotia, PEI and China can expect to be the same. Temperatures will vary. Other places: will be warm in cold in some countries and it will be really hot in others. It should be cold in the Arctic. Extended outlook The tornado is coming. It may be sunny next week, but it may be cloudy and there may be rain if it is cloudy, but it may snow too. Temperatures will vary.

Hashfield provokes violence at party bash

By GERTUDE LEMONDE
The Star
CHINA

Former Tory Premier Richard Hashfield looks relaxed and fit as he sucks back a beer at the beginning of a wild bash held in his honour last weekend in Fredericton. According to our reporter who secretly taped the proceedings, the party took an unexpected twist as Mr Hashfield provoked violent outbursts from guests with scathing accusations from his soon-to-be-released autobiography entitled "They Didn't Call Me Tricky Dicky for Nothing". The former scandal-plagued politician was at the centre of a controversy prior to the last provincial elections which placed him in a compromising position with two young university students from Fredericton. After claims and counter-claims which alleged that the premier gave cocaine to the two young men at his house along the St John River, Mr Hashfield continued to lead the provincial Tories into an election which saw them lost every seat in the legislature to the Liberal party led by Frank McGovernment. The selected excerpts from Mr Hashfield's book dealt with some of the more scandalous affairs that rocked his never-dull 17-year political career including the famous "some-dirty-bastard-placed-a-bag-of-weed-in-my-luggage-affair", the "I-didn't-give-those-young-fellas-any-coke-or-pot-affair", and of course, the now-famous "what-I-do-in-New-York-on-the-weekends-is-my-own-business-affair". At first, the 100 or so guests rolled in laughter at some of Mr Hashfield's insights to the infamous weekend in Montreal. A wink here and a few raised eyebrows were the order of the day. However, things began to go sour after he intimated that the Queen of England was behind that well-known bag of pot which somehow got placed in his luggage en route to the Fredericton airport. Apparently, the party really got out of hand when Mr Hashfield made some rather scathing remarks about former Lt Governor of New Brunswick, Bore Hanley which linked him to the Queen's and the RCMP's plot to ruin Hashfield's political career. This caused Fredericton Mayor, Boob Woodhide's wife Slander, to slap Hashfield in the face, leading to an all-out fracas involving the entire upper crust of Fredericton gathered for the event. The police were called and the whole bunch of parasites were thrown into the slammer for the night were they shared cells with common criminals and one Blue Santa Claus. Fortunately, our reporter managed to elude the swinging fists of Fredericton's elite and ended up in the wine-cellar with a case of expensive champagne and doesn't remember anything else that happened.
