

37170

would have known had I been in the city on the day you were here about which you wrote that if we did not hear from you the reason was one which would leave no room for misunderstanding between friends. Friendship ought not to be (and is not) exacting.

Best wishes and regards

Yours truly
W. L. Mackenzie King

37170

to England. Not knowing your address I put it aside till you returned and then I overlooked it. Even when I wrote you my congratulations I still was forgetful. I am very sorry for the seeming lack of courtesy which however I feel certain you will not have supposed to be more than a deplorably bad memory. Just as I