 I wish now to repeat the undertaking I gave in Parliament on behalf of the Government, on March the 30th last. In a war to save the liberty of others, and thus our own, we should not sacrifice our own liberty or our own unity. Planning and co-ordination will be essential, but the necessary co-ordination will be made without sacrificing our freedom or our national unity. Profits can and will be rigidly controlled, and profiteering suppressed. But men's lives and men's wills cannot be put on the same basis as goods and profits. The present government believe that conscription of men for overseas service will not be a necessary or an effective step. Let me say that so long as the present government may be in power, ~~no~~ such measure will be ~~enacted~~ ^{introduced by the present administration}. We have full faith in the readiness of Canadian men and women to rally for the defence of ~~their country and their liberties~~ ^{freedom and basic institutions}, and to resist aggression by any country seeking to dominate the world by force. There is in our people, in every part of Canada, a deep sense of duty, a power of facing realities, a tenacious courage, that will rise to this challenge.
