

CONCLUSION.

It is not considered necessary to furnish any further detailed statements than those that accompany this report.

In the absence of written accounts for labor, material and gravel purchased and paid for by oral report at Council meetings, it was not possible to trace some of the transactions.

There were many irregularities but only those of greater importance are referred to in this report.

The importance the ratepayers attach to the dispute over the West Nissouri Continuation School and the expense in connection with law suits required that this subject be fully reported on.

It is unfortunate that such a bitter feeling as exists in connection with the Continuation School, should have arisen to cause such large expenditures on law costs without a final settlement of the subject in dispute being reached.

I desire to thank the officials and others who have rendered information and assistance from time to time during the continuance of this audit.

The attention of the Council is called to Section 15, Chap. 200, R. S. O. 1914, which requires that the recommendations made in this report be carried into effect.

I shall be pleased to furnish any further explanations or advise with the Council in reference to any of the matters mentioned and recommendations contained in this report.

Yours truly ,

A. F. FALLS,
Chartered Accountant.
