

"The arrangement of Lectures for each term, with the time and place of their delivery, shall be subject to the approval of the Governors."

3.—Persons who are not members of the University may, with the permission of the President, attend the Lectures of any Professor or Professors, upon payment of a fee for each course, and may obtain certificates of proficiency at the examinations held by such Professor or Professors.

4.—All persons, whilst in attendance at the Lectures of any Professor, are subject to his control and direction.

5.—The Professor of Divinity shall be a Clergyman in full orders of the Church of England. Vacancies in the Professorship of Divinity shall hereafter be filled up by the Governors, from one or more names, to be submitted by the Bishop of the Diocese at the request of the Board, and if none of the names so submitted be found acceptable, then from other name or names to be in like manner submitted, until the vacancy shall be supplied. And the Bishop shall be requested to allot to him some share in the Cure of the Parish of Windsor, in order that he may be able to give the Divinity students practical instruction in Pastoral Theology.

CAP. IV.

CONVOCAATION AND DEGREES.

1.—All Masters of Arts, Engineering and Science, and members of the University of higher degrees, shall be members of the House of Convocation, but no one shall be entitled to a vote who does not appear in his full Academical habit. The Chancellor, or in his absence, or at his request, the Vice-Chancellor, shall preside, and in case of equality upon any division, shall have a second or casting vote.

2.—Convocation may be convoked at any time during the Academical year, by the Chancellor or Vice-Chancellor, by public
